Marin Set To Fete Dawn Of '60s

By ROBERT K. NEWCOMB

Thousands of Marinites are expected to watch the count down tonight as the pendulum swings out the final seconds of 1959 and a new year and a new decade blast off.

Marin's many night spots are girding for their biggest night of the year.

In San Rafael the moment of change will be heralded by the playing of "Auld Lang Syne" from the carillon organ at the Northwestern Savings and Loan Assn. building at Fifth avenue and B street.

The chimes will ring out from the newly installed loudspeakers atop the building.

The tradition of ringing bells to mark the New Year's advent, according to one source, was started about 2000 B.C. in Mesopotamia when someone initiated the custom of beating a tattoo on a brass kettle.

And tonight, amid confetti, balloons and other traditional paraphernalia, Marin merrymakers can be expected to make some noise of their own—perhaps with some nostalgia for the past and some optimism for the future.

Marin residents will thus be among millions throughout the world who are marking the full swing of one cycle and the beginning of another.

The year starting tomorrow will have an extra day in February, to make up the deficiency created by the Gregorian calendar's shortage of a few hours each year. Tradition has it that the supposedly shy female can become the aggressor during such a "Leap Year," and ask the man of her choice to marry her.

To law enforcement officers and to those who make a practice of compiling traffic accident statistics, the advent of the New Year has a sinister connotation.

In an effort to make the annual celebration a brighter one for all concerned, Capt. T. F. Parnow, commander of the California Highway Patrol office in San Rafael, has appealed to motorists to drive with extra caution along traffic-jammed roads and highways.

Traffic patrolmen will be on the lookout for drivers who have been drinking, promised the captain. "We want to get them off the highways before they get themselves and others into serious trouble."

Andrew Peri Dies; Long-Time Chief Of Fairfax Police

Andrew Joseph Peri, 55, Fairfax police chief for 34 years, died unexpectedly of a heart attack yesterday at Ross General Hospital, a short time after he became ill at work.

He was the oldest police chief in point of service in Marin—and he had been the youngest police chief in California when he was appointed, at the age of 21.

Peri had returned to work after lunch yesterday when he suffered chest pains. An officer drove him to his home at 1607 Sir Francis Drake boulevard and a doctor was called.

The chief was taken to the hospital by the doctor and placed in an oxygen tent. He died 45 minutes later.

Fairfax Mayor Edward A. Smith said Peri's death "was a shock to all of us. We can remember him mainly for the boys he kept out of prison, rather than the ones he put in."

Carl Mead Jr., Mill Valley police officer and president of the Marin County Peace Officers Assn., said Peri was a "very, very fine gentleman and a fine chief of police. He had

1 LOST IN BAY, 1 SAVED

Dramatic Story Of Rescue Told

By RANDALL GOULD

A San Anselmo painting contractor and his 14-year-old daughter rescued one amateur fisherman but lost another in storm-tossed bay waters off the Marin Rod and Gun Club yesterday afternoon.

"My friend died in my arms," said M/Sgt. Leslie Edward Hicks, 39, of Fort Scott, in Letterman Army Hospital this morning before release to return to his Marin City home.

He was describing a terrifying scene on tossing squall-buffeted waters of San Francisco Bay off Pt. San Quentin yesterday afternoon when his small boat had overturned, he himself had been drawn into a rescue craft after 15 minutes or more in icy waters, and the combined efforts of his rescuers and himself had failed to save the life of his neighbor and fishing comrade Joseph Sylvester, 68, retired railroad fireman.

Peter Antone Lolich, 45, and his daughter, Joyce Frances, both of 138 Morningside drive, San Anselmo, were the hero and heroine.

After going to the rescue they alternated at running their own 17-foot twin outboard motor craft and with Hicks, hauling at Sylvester who weighed an estimated 250 pounds. The wind howled, waves beat at them and they drifted so close to the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge that police were able to shout encouragement but not to reach them.

Piece by piece, Sylvester's clothes gave way and the strength of everybody concerned waned rapidly. Finally, as Hicks told the story:

"One minute Joe was alive. The next he was gone. He was my friend and he died in my arms. It's awful to think about.

Daughter Gets High Praise In Bay Rescue

"It's my daughter Joyce that deserves any credit," said Peter Lolich.

He glanced southward along the bay shore to a little group huddled around a form on the beach and whispered:

"Don't tell her anything if —that other fellow didn't make it."

An ambulance had just started for San Rafael General Hospital with a man who had "made it" because of prompt heroic action yesterday in wind-tossed waters by this San Rafael painting contractor and his 14-year-old daughter, both of 138 Morningside drive.

"We'd gone out to fish but the wind came up and it was no use," said Lolich, indicating his trim 17-foot aquamarine boat with its two outboard motors.

Petition Asking Fluoridation Vote Qualifies

A petition for the fluoridation of the Marin Municipal Water District's water supply has more than enough signatures to put the question to a public vote in the June primary election, County Clerk George S. Jones disclosed today.

Jones and his deputies counted 5,819 valid signatures on the petition, far more than the 4,570 needed to bring the question to a public vote. The county clerk will certify the validity of the petition to the board of directors of water district.

At the next district board meeting, set for Jan. 13, the board is expected to act formally to put the question on the June ballot.

No Attachment For Hayden Ship

Actor Sterling Hayden, pleasant and courteous, accepted a summons-complaint yesterday at his new Belvedere home from a San Francisco car rental agency, which says the actor owes it $300 for use of a car.

Chief Civil Deputy Floyd Middagh, who served the papers, said Hayden acknowledged the bill and said he was preparing to have the matter ironed out. Middagh did not attach Hayden's schooner, the Wanderer, because the bill is a small one, and Hayden promised to take care of the debt.

JUST WAITING FOR TORTOISE TO CATCH UP?

A white rabbit, found fast asleep in the middle of a San Rafael street this morning, was whisked to safety by San Rafael police and turned over to the Marin County Humane Society for safekeeping.

Officers Leo Schwab and Richard Douglas spotted "Harvey" at the corner of Picnic and Bungalow avenues about 6:15 a.m.

"It was lying in the middle of the street and didn't move a muscle until I picked it up," said Douglas. "It is most likely someone's pet." The rabbit is white except for dark ears and face.

Stolen Auto Found In Alpine Lake

A 1958 Chevrolet station wagon with only 17,000 miles on the speedometer was pulled out of Alpine Lake yesterday, where it had apparently been dunked about a year ago by car thieves from Los Angeles.

The rusting vehicle might have remained undetected had it not been for the low water level this year. William Grant, employee of Marin Municipal Water District, spotted the roof of the station wagon exposed. He called the sheriff's office.

Undersheriff Eugene Meyer led a crew of deputies including two skindivers to the lake. Divers George Tsegeletos and Orville J. Arey probed the interior for possible bodies before a tow truck hauled the auto out of the lake.

The radio and antenna had been carefully removed. A check of the car registration showed the car had been stolen from Los Angeles on Aug. 5, 1958.

Man Exercising Dogs Knocked Cold By Bullet

A Marin magazine illustrator was knocked unconscious when he was struck by a bullet while running his dogs.

Deputy Sheriff Edmond Mauberret of the Marin City substation identified the victim as Robert Sternloff of 381-A Todd way, Homestead Valley.

Mauberret said he planned to question Sternloff this afternoon and said he had only sketchy information on the matter. He said a Marin Municipal Water District employee reported the shooting.

Mauberret said he understands that Sternloff, a magazine illustrator for wild life publications, was running his pet beagles on Tennessee Valley road when the shooting occurred.

Mauberret said his preliminary report indicates the artist's glasses were knocked off and broken, and that a small caliber bullet grazed his head and knocked him out.

He said the sheriff's department had no clue as to the source of the shot.

Fog Shorts Power Line, Starts Fire

Heavy fog was blamed today for a break in a 12,000-volt power line that yesterday blacked out five homes at Dillon Beach and touched off a 25-acre grass fire.

Leonard Robertson, district electrical superintendent for Pacific Gas and Electric Co., said the fog apparently caused an arc which short-circuited power lines and burned off a cross arm.

The hot power line fell to the ground on the Walter P. Lawson ranch at 12:45 p.m. starting a grass fire near the College of the Pacific's marine research laboratory. Seven county firemen, from three stations, aided by 25 Boy Scouts, controlled the blaze in one hour.

Brakes Fail; Driver Runs Car Into Bank

Mrs. Fern Gaspard, 75, of 10 Center street, San Rafael, saved herself and two elderly passengers from possible serious injury by ramming her brakeless car into an embankment on steep Fairhills drive yesterday afternoon.

When San Rafael Police Sgt. Louis Foster arrived at 448 Fairhills drive, he found the driver and two passengers, shaken but unhurt, inside the car, which was listing at a 70-degree angle. Passengers were Ruth Martyn, 80, of Berkeley, and Dorothy E. Howard, 65, of 120 G street, San Rafael.

Mrs. Gaspard said she started down Fairhills drive when her brakes failed. Realizing she could not maneuver the car down the steep and winding road, she swerved to the right into the embankment.

U.S. Readies To Greet New Year

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The old passes away and the new begins at midnight, and across the land, people will greet the hour in quiet or clamor.

There will be parties and prayers, parades and paper hats, carnivals and contemplation. There will be remembering and hoping. There will be crowds and people alone. There will be spending, tippling, and the songs of choirs.

Millions of men and women will take part in services in city cathedrals and village chapels, pondering the past and regarding the New Year's promise.

Other millions will flock to hotels and night clubs, to reinforce their cheer with numbers, comedians, noise and dancing girls. More revelers will whoop it up on the streets.

In many place, special events and customs mark the New Year.

Cherryville, N. C., holds its traditional "criering in" to usher in 1960, beginning at 12:01 a.m.

From then until the following nightfall, two criers, each accompanied by a squad of musketeers, move throughout the town of 3,500, stopping in front of each house, where the crier gives a lengthy greeting which starts: "Good morning to you, sir. We wish you a Happy New Year. Good health, long life."

Then comes a volley from the ancient muskets. The custom, apparently originated by early German settlers, has been observed for 150 years.

Out West, the AdAmAn Club, composed of prominent Colorado residents, stages its annual hike to the snowswept summit of Pike's Peak where fireworks are set off at midnight. At Jackson, Wyo., there is a torchlight ski parade down King Mountain.

In Miami, Fla., a pre-Orange Bowl ganie parade is held New Year's Eve, Dallas Tex., holds the national rodeo finals.

"It will be a more festive New Year's than the last one," was the consensus of San Francisco hotels and night spot operators, who reported heavy bookings, including many out-of-town parties.

Prices appeared little changed from last year, averaging around $15 per person for dinner, dancing entertainment and favors. Some spots went as low as $6, a few as high as $40. In most cases, drinks were extra, except for maybe one round of champagne.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Space Study Invited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists of the Soviet Union and all other nations have been asked to help tap and study space information being sent back by the newest American satellite, Explorer VII.

The National Aeronautics and Space administration said yesterday it will furnish to any interested and qualified scientists the telemetry codes of the space traveler.

Town Fights Disease

The National Red Cross declared Hull a disaster area because of havoc caused by new moon high tides driven across this peninsular community by gale winds Tuesday.

Hull was among the communities hardest-hit by the storm which barreled out to sea after dumping more than two feet of snow in parts of northern New England and sent surf pounding against waterfront property from Maine to Rhode Island.

Clash In Cameroons

DOUALA, French Cameroons (UPI)—Rebel tribesmen attacked government troops with knives and spears last night on the eve of United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's arrival in the Cameroons for independence ceremonies.

The French-trained native troops restored order today after 25 rebels were killed and as many wounded. Five civilians and soldiers were killed.

Dog's Heart Changed

PALO ALTO (UPI)—A Stanford Medical Center surgeon has successfully transplanted a living heart from one dog to another—the first such operation that has left the recipient of the heart alive longer than seven and a half hours.

The dog, a 5-year-old mongrel, is still alive and healthy, eight days after the operation.

The experiment was performed by Dr. Richard Tower with the help of Dr. Norman Shumway at the university's new medical center here.

Cold Weather Prevails

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Generally cold, but seasonable, weather prevailed across most of the country today. No violent storms or heavy snowfalls appeared likely to mar the New Year's Eve celebrations.

Occasional rain or snow is in prospect for New Year's Day from the mid-continent into the Pacific Northwest. A warming trend is indicated in the middle and upper Mississippi Valley and New England.

Yule Tree Prank

Well, The Job's Over

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — All week the employees of the state Franchise Tax Board have been rushing to get 4,100,000 state income tax blanks in the mail before—they thought—bulk mailing rates went up on Jan. 1.

They needn't have put themselves out. The board learned yesterday that it has until July 1 to beat the rate increase. Only second class rates go up this week.

Optimistic workers say at least they will have finished the job of mailing the 200 tons of tax forms before they take a well-earned New Year's Day holiday.

Frozen Man Saved

WILLIAMS, Ariz. (UPI)—This small northern Arizona community had television service again today, but loss of it almost cost TV repairman George Degele his life.

Degele, 38, was plucked off the side of Bill Williams Mountain yesterday after he became frozen to the ground trying to find a break in the cable that brings the video beam into this town.

Degele was rescued by helicopter after an 18-hour ordeal on the mountain. He is hospitalized suffering severe frostbite of both feet and legs, but attendants said his condition was excellent considering the prolonged exposure.

New Anti-Jew Incident

BONN, Bermany (UPI)—A new incident in which anti-Semitic slogans and swastikas were smeared on a public building was disclosed today by police in the north Bavarian town of Scheinfeld.

Unknown persons daubed the offensive marks on both sides of the entrance to the town counthouse. Police said the daubing was done last night and discovered this morning. The incident was the latest in a wave that has broken out across the nation.

Longer Marriages

CHICAGO (UPI)—The average modern marriage is lasting longer . . . and lasting better.

Mr. and Mrs. Newlywed can expect 43 years of wedded bliss—or battle—until death do they part, three census experts told the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science yesterday.

This altar-to-grave span is 12 years longer than the 31 years grandma and grandpa could expect to live after their turn-of-the-century marriage.

Generous Americans

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans donated a record seven and one-half billion dollars to various causes in 1959, a survey shows. The figure was announced by Charles A. Anger, board chairman of John Price Jones Co., an institutional fund-raising firm. He said individuals gave about 80 per cent of the total.

New Use For Trees

OCEAN CITY, N.J. (AP) — Mayor Nathaniel Smith has asked residents to turn in their Christmas trees to be placed on the beach. He said the trees would be lined up as a windbreak to keep sand from blowing away.

Transit Offer Upped

NEW YORK (AP) — The city has doubled its wage offer to transit workers in a new move to avert a bus and subway strike now set for 5 a.m. New Year's Day.

Michael J. Quill, president of the Transport Workers Union, said it still wasn't enough—although "bargainable" when negotiations resume today.

Russ Atom Expert Retracts Charge U.S. Holding Tests

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russia's leading nuclear blast expert today effectively retracted the Soviet charge that the United States has been conducting underground nuclear tests.

Prof. E. K. Federov, chief Soviet delegate to the Geneva nuclear test talks, said the U. S. underground blasts mentioned yesterday by the Communist organ Pravda were "chemical explosions simulating nuclear explosions."

Federov's clarification was a passing remark in a statement that was generally critical of the U. S. stand on detection of underground nuclear tests.

In Manchester, England, the Guardian reported receiving a telephone call from a Pravda editor in London saying that yesterday's story should not be interpreted as an accusation against the United States.

The Guardian quoted the Russian as saying that a story in today's Pravda—presumably the Federov statement—would "clarify the position."

Federov said Soviet experts believe the U. S. observations on underground explosions "will definitely be significant in the work of a (nuclear) control system," but added that they "categorically reject" U. S. treatmento f the data.

"Having discovered various errors and sometimes advisedly incorrect propositions in the American statements and documents, Soviet experts on the basis of the same factual material in some cases reached different conclusions," he said.

U.S. Expects To Reduce National Debt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury hopes to cut the national debt by five and one-half or six billion dollars in the next six months, but apparently not enough to avoid another temporary boost in the debt ceiling.

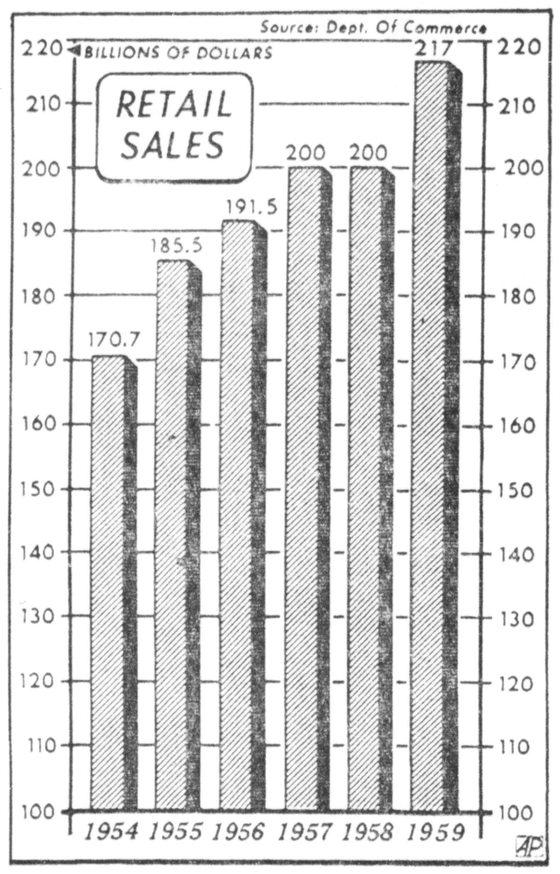

The debt is now 291 billion dollars. The Treasury said yesterday it expects by the end of June to reduce the total to 285 or 285½ billion.

The current temporary debt limit drops automatically on June 30 to 285 billion. So the Treasury's estimates indicate Congress will have to be asked again for another temporary increase in the ceiling.

Even if reductions bring the limit to less than 285 billion by June 30, provisions have to be made for the last half of the year when tax receipts drop and expenditures usually surpass receipts.

The Treasury expects to pay off 10 billion dollars of maturing debt by June 30. But in the same period, it will borrow four to four and one-half billion in new cash.

Plans were announced yesterday to borrow three and one-half billion dollars next month on a short-term basis through two auctions of bills.

HOW RETAIL SALES ROSE IN YEAR

U. S. retail sales resumed their upward climb in 1959 and set a record of 217 billion dollars. Downtown stores spent millions remodeling and experimented with a "mail" idea, but suburban stores continued to get a larger percentage of sales. Outlook for first half of 1960 is for a 2 to 3 per cent increase. (AP Wirephoto chart)

'59 Was Safest Road Year, Despite Rise In Fatalities

CHICAGO (UPI)—About 38,000 Americans died in traffic accidents in 1959. But the year was the safest in the history of the nation's highways.

These contradictory figures were released today by the National Safety Council, which estimated the 1959 traffic death toll at between 37,500 and 38,000—almost 1,000 more than last year.

But the year's mileage death rate was 5.4 for every 100 million miles traveled—the lowest on record.

"There is good reason to hope that the traffic toll in the early months of this year has been definitely stopped and that the nation's streets and highways will become safer and safer," a council spokesman said.

Probably the most tragic figure was the 1,400,000 persons disabled by auto smashups. This was an increase over the 1958 total of 1,350,000 disabling injuries.

S. Korea Denies Its Ship Fired On Russ Vessel

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—South Korea today denied a Soviet charge that a South Korea warship fired on an unarmed Soviet survey ship off the North Korean coast Monday.

The South Korean navy termed the accusation "another piece of the Communist' usual false propaganda."

The navy issued an initial statement saying that a North Korean ship probably carried out the attack by mistake and that the Korean Reds were trying to pin the blame on South Korea.

A navy spokesman also reported that South Korean navy ships had "sighted gunfire" in the area of the reported attack. But later both these statements were ordered deleted from the official navy statement on the charge. No explanation was given.

The navy said its ships do not operate as far north as the point of the alleged attack—30 miles off the North Korean coast and 36 miles north of the South Korean boundary.

The spot is more than 100 miles south of the course being used by two unarmed Soviet transport ships repatriating Koreans from Japan to North Korea. South Korea had threatened to use force to prevent the migration, but so far is not known to have interfered.

U.S. Readies To Greet New Year

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The old passes away and the new begins at midnight, and across the land, people will greet the hour in quiet or clamor.

There will be parties and prayers, parades and paper hats, carnivals and contemplation. There will be remembering and hoping. There will be crowds and people alone. There will be spending, tippling, and the songs of choirs.

Millions of men and women will take part in services in city cathedrals and village chapels, pondering the past and regarding the New Year's promise.

Other millions will flock to hotels and night clubs, to reinforce their cheer with numbers, comedians, noise and dancing girls. More revelers will whoop it up on the streets.

In many place, special events and customs mark the New Year.

Cherryville, N. C., holds its traditional "criering in" to usher in 1960, beginning at 12:01 a.m.

From then until the following nightfall, two criers, each accompanied by a squad of musketeers, move throughout the town of 3,500, stopping in front of each house, where the crier gives a lengthy greeting which starts: "Good morning to you, sir. We wish you a Happy New Year. Good health, long life."

Then comes a volley from the ancient muskets. The custom, apparently originated by early German settlers, has been observed for 150 years.

Out West, the AdAmAn Club, composed of prominent Colorado residents, stages its annual hike to the snowswept summit of Pike's Peak where fireworks are set off at midnight. At Jackson, Wyo., there is a torchlight ski parade down King Mountain.

In Miami, Fla., a pre-Orange Bowl game parade is held New Year's Eve, Dallas Tex., holds the national rodeo finals.

"It will be a more festive New Year's than the last one," was the consensus of San Francisco hotels and night spot operators, who reported heavy bookings, including many out-of-town parties.

Prices appeared little changed from last year, averaging around $15 per person for dinner, dancing entertainment and favors. Some spots went as low as $6, a few as high as $40. In most cases, drinks were extra, except for maybe one round of champagne.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Space Study Invited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists of the Soviet Union and all other nations have been asked to help tap and study space information being sent back by the newest American satellite, Explorer VII.

The National Aeronautics and Space administration said yesterday it will furnish to any interested and qualified scientists the telemetry codes of the space traveler.

Town Fights Disease

The National Red Cross declared Hull a disaster area because of havoc caused by new moon high tides driven across this peninsular community by gale winds Tuesday.

Hull was among the communities hardest-hit by the storm which barreled out to sea after dumping more than two feet of snow in parts of northern New England and sent surf pounding against waterfront property from Maine to Rhode Island.

Clash In Cameroons

DOUALA, French Cameroons (UPI)—Rebel tribesmen attacked government troops with knives and spears last night on the eve of United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's arrival in the Cameroons for independence ceremonies.

The French-trained native troops restored order today after 25 rebels were killed and as many wounded. Five civilians and soldiers were killed.

Dog's Heart Changed

PALO ALTO (UPI)—A Stanford Medical Center surgeon has successfully transplanted a living heart from one dog to another—the first such operation that has left the recipient of the heart alive longer than seven and a half hours.

The dog, a 5-year-old mongrel, is still alive and healthy, eight days after the operation.

The experiment was performed by Dr. Richard Tower with the help of Dr. Norman Shumway at the university's new medical center here.

Cold Weather Prevails

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Generally cold, but seasonable, weather prevailed across most of the country today. No violent storms or heavy snowfalls appeared likely to mar the New Year's Eve celebrations.

Occasional rain or snow is in prospect for New Year's Day from the mid-continent into the Pacific Northwest. A warming trend is indicated in the middle and upper Mississippi Valley and New England.

Yule Tree Prank

Well, The Job's Over

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — All week the employees of the state Franchise Tax Board have been rushing to get 4,100,000 state income tax blanks in the mail before—they thought—bulk mailing rates went up on Jan. 1.

They needn't have put themselves out. The board learned yesterday that it has until July 1 to beat the rate increase. Only second class rates go up this week.

Optimistic workers say at least they will have finished the job of mailing the 200 tons of tax forms before they take a well-earned New Year's Day holiday.

Frozen Man Saved

WILLIAMS, Ariz. (UPI)—This small northern Arizona community had television service again today, but loss of it almost cost TV repairman George Degele his life.

Degele, 38, was plucked off the side of Bill Williams Mountain yesterday after he became frozen to the ground trying to find a break in the cable that brings the video beam into this town.

Degele was rescued by helicopter after an 18-hour ordeal on the mountain. He is hospitalized suffering severe frostbite of both feet and legs, but attendants said his condition was excellent considering the prolonged exposure.

The new bank, at 120 Sir Francis Drake boulevard, will be the seventh branch of First National to open since 1950. All except one in Petaluma are located in Marin.

Captain Murman is commanding officer of Naval Reserve Composite Unit 12-17, which drills at the College of Marin. He has been named to serve on the commander-to-captain selection board in Washington. He expects to be back in Marin about Feb. 1.

I-J Staffer To Help Judge AF Newspapers

The Independent-Journal's North Marin representative, Carleton Williams, will be among three judges selecting the best newspaper in eight Western states published by units of the 4th Air Force.

The other two judges are Thomas W. Barbour, San Francisco public relations director for American Air Lines, and Herbert J. Levy, Sunday editor of the Vallejo Times-Herald.

The three were invited to serve by Maj. Gen. Sory Smith, 4th Air Force commander. The judging will take place at 4th Air Force Headquarters, Hamilton Air Force Base Wednesday.

FAMED HAFT UNIT

Rescue Group Closes Up Shop At Midnight

By CARLETON WILLIAMS

While whistles, bells and blaring noisemakers signal the passing of the old year at midnight, the famed 41st Air Rescue Squadron of Hamilton Air Force Base will close up shop without fanfare or ceremony.

The official deactivation of the squadron will close the curtain on 12 years of dramatic rescue work accomplished through 3,200 mercy missions.

These have ranged from routine escorts of crippled aircraft to harrowing helicopter pickups which have plucked literally hundreds of stricken persons from earthquakes, floods and other disasters.

According to official announcements, the 41st is being disbanded to equalize the ratio between support and combat troops. Its 167 men and eight SA16 Amphibian Albatross planes will be integrated into other outfits.

The work of the 41st, the announcements said, will be taken over by the Coast Guard and the Civil Air Patrol.

It is also official as of yesterday, according to squadron commander Lt. Col. Robert A. Stribling, that two helicopters, four pilots and six mechanics will remain at Hamilton to carry on rescue work with the 4th Air Force Search and Rescue Center.

The 41st is the outgrowth of the first air rescue units which were established during World War II to fish crippled pilots out of the English Channel. The service later grew until units were spotted throughout the world.

Since 1947 the Hamilton squadron has patrolled the Pacific Ocean half way to Hawaii and the 11 western states.

The most dramatic among its rescues and the most vivid in the memories of Marin residents are the recent Yellowstone earthquake, the San Joaquin Valley floods of 1955 and the rescue of 47 youngsters stranded by high waters near Napa in 1957.

Through the outfit's team effort, individual heroes have also emerged.

There is Maj. John H. Mork of 119 Blackstone drive, Marinwood, who has become known as "Mr. Rescue." In his 16 years of rescue work, Major Mork has flown more than 5,300 hours in support of rescue operations and is credited with 11,155 water landings, 450 of which have been in open sea.

There is also Capt. Andrew S. Champion of 982 Ulloa court, Ignacio, who was in charge of operations during the Yellowstone earthquake when 40 persons were evacuated in six days.

And there is Capt. Harry Cole of 1328 Cambridge street, Novato, who was cited by the Mexican government for his outstanding work this year in the Yaqui River floods at Obregon.

Both Major Mork and Captain Cole have been recommended for the Legion of Merit, the highest peacetime award offered by the service.

It is the consensus of all who have had occasion to work with the 41st that it will be sorely missed.

As one of the search and rescue officers put it recently, "Of course, we will carry on. But it's like having one man suddenly pulled out of an efficient three-man office."

Terra Linda Interchange Contract Let

A $1,024,444 state contract for construction of an interchange on Highway 101 at Manuel Freitas parkway in Terra Linda, frontage roads and connections was awarded in Sacramento yesterday to Fredrickson and Watson Construction Co. of Oakland.

The frontage roads and connections will be between Lucas Valley road and a point .2 mile south of San Pedro road.

The interchange will include a 278-foot traffic separation bridge to carry local traffic over the highway. Access ramps will also be constructed at San Pedro road.

Vets To Receive Questionnaires

The Veterans Administration is sending out annual income questionnaires to veterans and survivors: If the cards are not returned, pension payments will stop immediately.

Assistance in filling out the forms will be available at the veterans' service office at 519 Fourth street in San Rafael.

"Failure to report income above the legal limits could prove costly," cautioned W. P. Duhamel, veterans service officer, "and I want to urge all pensioners to fill out the questionnaires accurately and completely."

ACCUSED OF CHIMPNAPING — Robert Tomarchin, above, accused of spiriting a chimpanzee, Mr. Moke, away from a St. Louis zoo and taking the animal to Miami, Fla., has been allowed by a Miami judge to keep Mr. Moke while Missouri tries to extradite him. Tomarchin had owned Mr. Moke, then sold him to the zoo. He says he missed the chimp, tried to buy him back and chimpnaped him when the zoo refused to sell. Tomarchin says he is currently trying to teach Mr. Moke to write his name, while they await Missouri's extradition proceedings. (AP Wirephoto)

New Hub City Bank Slates Open House

The new San Anselmo office of First National Bank in San Rafael, opening for business Monday, will give the public a preview of its facilities at an open house Saturday from 3 to 9 p.m.

Visitors who receive lucky keys that open a treasure chest may dip into it and scoop out a handful of coins.

The new bank, at 120 Sir Francis Drake boulevard, will be the seventh branch of First National to open since 1950. All except one in Petaluma are located in Marin.

Customers may drive up to either of two drive-in windows —the first such facilities in San Anselmo—or make use of the ample parking space.

Other services include a safe deposit vault, banking by mail, a night depository and photographic check protection.

Navy Reservist Will Go On Active Duty

Capt. Sydney P. Murman (USNR) of 14 Entrata court, San Anselmo, member of the law firm of Hadsell, Murman and Bishop with offices in San Rafael and San Francisco, will leave Saturday for temporary active naval service in Washington, D. C.

Captain Murman is commanding officer of Naval Reserve Composite Unit 12-17, which drills at the College of Marin. He has been named to serve on the commander-to-captain selection board in Washington. He expects to be back in Marin about Feb. 1.

I-J Staffer To Help Judge AF Newspapers

The Independent-Journal's North Marin representative, Carleton Williams, will be among three judges selecting the best newspaper in eight Western states published by units of the 4th Air Force.

The other two judges are Thomas W. Barbour, San Francisco public relations director for American Air Lines, and Herbert J. Levy, Sunday editor of the Vallejo Times-Herald.

The three were invited to serve by Maj. Gen. Sory Smith, 4th Air Force commander. The judging will take place at 4th Air Force Headquarters, Hamilton Air Force Base Wednesday.

FAMED HAFT UNIT

Rescue Group Closes Up Shop At Midnight

By CARLETON WILLIAMS

While whistles, bells and blaring noisemakers signal the passing of the old year at midnight, the famed 41st Air Rescue Squadron of Hamilton Air Force Base will close up shop without fanfare or ceremony.

The official deactivation of the squadron will close the curtain on 12 years of dramatic rescue work accomplished through 3,200 mercy missions.

These have ranged from routine escorts of crippled aircraft to harrowing helicopter pick-ups which have plucked literally hundreds of stricken persons from earthquakes, floods and other disasters.

According to official announcements, the 41st is being disbanded to equalize the ratio between support and combat troops. Its 167 men and eight SA16 Amphibian Albatross planes will be integrated into other outfits.

The work of the 41st, the announcements said, will be taken over by the Coast Guard and the Civil Air Patrol.

It is also official as of yesterday, according to squadron commander Lt. Col. Robert A. Stribling, that two helicopters, four pilots and six mechanics will remain at Hamilton to carry on rescue work with the 4th Air Force Search and Rescue Center.

The 41st is the outgrowth of the first air rescue units which were established during World War II to fish crippled pilots out of the English Channel. The service later grew until units were spotted throughout the world.

Since 1947 the Hamilton squadron has patrolled the Pacific Ocean half way to Hawaii and the 11 western states.

The most dramatic among its rescues and the most vivid in the memories of Marin residents are the recent Yellowstone earthquake, the San Joaquin Valley floods of 1955 and the rescue of 47 youngsters stranded by high waters near Napa in 1957.

Through the outfit's team effort, individual heroes have also emerged.

There is Maj. John H. Mork of 119 Blackstone drive, Marinwood, who has become known as "Mr. Rescue." In his 16 years of rescue work, Major Mork has flown more than 5,300 hours in support of rescue operations and is credited with 11,155 water landings, 450 of which have been in open sea.

There is also Capt. Andrew S. Champion of 982 Ulloa court, Ignacio, who was in charge of operations during the Yellowstone earthquake when 40 persons were evacuated in six days.

And there is Capt. Harry Cole of 1328 Cambridge street, Novato, who was cited by the Mexican government for his outstanding work this year in the Yaqui River floods at Obregon.

Both Major Mork and Captain Cole have been recommended for the Legion of Merit, the highest peacetime award offered by the service.

It is the consensus of all who have had occasion to work with the 41st that it will be sorely missed.

As one of the search and rescue officers put it recently, "Of course, we will carry on. But it's like having one man suddenly pulled out of an efficient three-man office."

Terra Linda Interchange Contract Let

A $1,024,444 state contract for construction of an interchange on Highway 101 at Manuel Freitas parkway in Terra Linda, frontage roads and connections was awarded in Sacramento yesterday to Fredrickson and Watson Construction Co. of Oakland.

The frontage roads and connections will be between Lucas Valley road and a point .2 mile south of San Pedro road.

The interchange will include a 278-foot traffic separation bridge to carry local traffic over the highway. Access ramps will also be constructed at San Pedro road.

Vets To Receive Questionnaires

The Veterans Administration is sending out annual income questionnaires to veterans and survivors: If the cards are not returned, pension payments will stop immediately.

Assistance in filling out the forms will be available at the veterans' service office at 519 Fourth street in San Rafael.

"Failure to report income above the legal limits could prove costly," cautioned W. P. Duhamel, veterans service officer, "and I want to urge all pensioners to fill out the questionnaires accurately and completely."

RESCUE

just before the end he waved a go-ahead signal. Then he grabbed my hand in one sudden jerk and relaxed. I knew he was finished."

Sylvester, who lived with his sister, Eudora Sylvester, 64, at House 95 in Marin City, had gone out with Hicks, who lives with his wife Marian, at House 108, in Hicks' 12-foot single outboard motor fishing boat after striped bass around noontime. Hicks said they had known each other for five years and had been fishing companions two or three years.

"The water was calm when we went out," Hicks later said. They caught their limit of striped bass and started back, to be overwhelmed by a squall near the end of the Marin Rod and Gun Club pier. Observers thought the boat capsized when caught in a trough as it started to turn.

"Sylvester shifted his weight I think—it could be that or of the fish got loose in t boat," said Hicks. "Joe was very heavy man, maybe 250 pounds.

"All I know is that we overturned.

"How long was I in the water? That's hard to say under the circumstances — 10 minutes or a half an hour, but say maybe 15 minutes. We drifted fast."

During the rescue effort the two boats got close to the Richmond-San Rafael bridge.

"I could see police up there and hear them calling to us," said Hicks. "One of the awful things was that I felt the Coast Guard would be along soon—they said a helicopter was coming."

The Coast Guard did come, but too late to help. It found the abandoned and overturned Hicks boat and returned it to the Rod and Gun Club pier.

Patrolman Thomas Cheetham of the San Rafael police, among those gathered on the Richmond bridge said today that "it was terrible to be so near and so helpless."

"There we were, looking down and going crazy we were so frustrated with no way to lend a hand," he said. "At that time it was Joyce, Lolich's daughter, who was working with Hicks in trying to pull Sylvester aboard while Lolich kept his boat away from the bridge.

"That girl was all right and when her father praises what she did he's absolutely correct."

F. L. Bortfeld of 249 Jewell avenue, San Rafael, a correctional officer at San Quentin Prison, waded out about 10 yards to haul Sylvester in.

Police said Bortfeld tried to breathe life back into Sylvester's body. The San Rafael Fire Department attempted resuscitation without success. Finally Harold Keaton, had the body taken to the Frank J. Keaton Mortruary in Sausalito.

Meanwhile, an ambulance took Hicks to San Rafael General Hospital

Hicks was then removed to Letterman Army Hospital for further treatment. He was found to be suffering from exhaustion and several bruises. He was released today to return home.

Police initially reported Sylvester died from submersion and exhaustion, but both Hicks and Lolich expressed belief that he suffered a heart attack and succumbed about 300 yards from shore.

Sylvester's sister Eudora was at Ukiah yesterday to visit another brother in the hospital there. He was born in Kansas and is survived also by another sister, Mrs. Mary Alice Wheelan of Burlingame. Funeral services will be at noon Monday at Keaton's in Sausalito. Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery.

Marinite's Mother Dies At Age 90

Katherine Greenhalgh Storgaard, 90, mother of Carl Greenhalgh of Laurel avenue in Woodacre, died in an Oakland hospital Tuesday after long illness.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Clarence N. Cooper funeral home, Fruitdale avenue and East Sixteenth street in Oakland. Cremation will be at Mountain View Crematorium.

DAUGHTER

such a breeze and waves—so we were sort of looking around for him.

"Then suddenly we spotted this other boat, overturned, with two men hanging on the side. I'd say they were maybe 1,000 yards out from shore and just about midway between the line of the long wharf and the bridge (Richmond-San Rafael Bridge) to the south.

"We got over to them as quick as we could and I helped one of the fellows into our boat without too much trouble. Joyce was a tremendous help. She handled our boat for us, did everything. Whatever luck we had on this was due to her, really.

"Then this chap we'd got into our boat (Leslie Hicks) and I tried to get the other fellow (Joe Sylvester) in, and what a job!

"That other man is a tremendous big fellow. I'll bet he weighs all of 300 pounds."

Lolich looked along the shore again. The little group had partly dispersed, some walking away as though nothing more could be done, others standing by the sprawled body face down on the beach.

And Lolich climbed into his car beside Joyce, backed down the beach, and with the aid of another boat owner started to haul his craft onto its tow cradle.

Later the other boatman, Sol Rosenthal of San Francisco, said he had been out to fish but his small craft with single outboard engine began to leak so he returned to shore and beached his boat.

This morning at home Lolich confessed himself a physical wreck.

"I just couldn't sleep," he said. "Joyce did all right but I thought all night of whether we couldn't have saved that other man.

PERI

been in law enforcement a long time and was an A-1 officer. The people who knew him liked him and thought a lot of him. He was always there anytime we needed him."

Peri headed a six-man department, counting himself, that served Fairfax's population of more than 5,000.

When he was appointed chief, he was a one-man department for seven years. And before his appointment, he was a deputy sheriff and nightwatchman for Fairfax. He was not quite 20 years old at the time, and he was a winning middleweight boxer for the Olympic Club in San Francisco.

He was born Nov. 18, 1904, in the North Beach section of San Francisco, son of Antone and Linda Peri. The widowed Mrs. Peri still lives at 101 Willow avenue, Fairfax, the house her husband built when Andy was five.

Peri ws educated at Fairfax Grammar School and Ethan Allen School in San Francisco.

His enlistment in the Navy during World War I ended after two months when it was discovered Andy was only 16.

Before his start as Fairfax night watchman, he worked in a San Francisco shipyard, in a San Rafael bakery and for a San Anselmo plumber.

Peri figured in the arrest of Jack (Scarface) Chambers who robbed the Fairfax branch of the Bank of Italy in 1932.

Fairfax had a second bank robbery last August at the same bank, now the Bank of America. Peri then bemoaned a chance occurrence that caused him to be out of his police car and out of earshot of its radio until after the robber had time to escape. The chief was only 50 feet away from the bank at the time, giving directions to deliverymen.

Peri, in addition to his mother, is survived by his wife, the former Frances Fairbank, whom he married in 1930; two brothers, Frank Peri of Yountville and Charles Peri of Fairfax, and two sisters, Mrs. Anita De Martini of San Francisco and Mrs. Dorothy Maggio of Fairfax.

He was a member of San Rafael Elks Lodge 1108, the Knights of Columbus in San Rafael, Club Italia, Marin Rod and Gun Club and Marin County Peace Officers Assn. He also was a member of St. Rita's Catholic Church, Fairfax.

A Requiem High Mass will be said at 10:00 a.m. Saturday at St. Rita's Church. The cortege will form at 9:30 a.m. at Keaton's, Fifth avenue and E street, San Rafael. Interment will be in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Keaton chapel.

Walter William (Wally) Brice, president of the Brice Brothers Markets in Marin and the Brice Brothers wholesale produce market in San Francisco, died yesterday of a heart attack at his home at 15 Bay Vista drive, Mill Valley. He was 46.

Brice, in ill health for several months, was playing golf in Mill Valley with a few store employees when he felt chest pains and went home. He died about 4 p.m.

Brice, born in Siskiyou county, came to the Bay Area when he was 6 years old. He attended Commerce High School in San Francisco, and started his grocery store career then as a helper in a store.

Later he was co-owner of a market in San Francisco. In 1941 he and his brothers started the wholesale market in San Francisco, and in 1948 their first retail store was opened at Marin City.

Another store was opened in Bel Aire in 1953, and a third in Novato in 1956.

Brice had resided in Marin for the past eight years.

He was a member of San Mateo Elks Lodge and of the Southern Marin Recreation Center, and was a past president of the Marin County Grocers Assn.

He leaves his wife, Lillian; two daughters, Joanne Brice of Mill Valley and Mrs. Arline McNay of Bakersfield; three brothers, Edwin, Norman and Irwin, all of Marin; three sisters, Mrs. Ruth De Wolfe of Tiburon, Mrs. Freda Sutter and Mrs. May Crane, both of North Platte, Neb.; his mother, Mrs. Emma Brice of San Francisco, and three grandchildren.

just before the end he waved a go-ahead signal. Then he grabbed my hand in one sudden jerk and relaxed. I knew he was finished."

Sylvester, who lived with his sister, Eudora Sylvester, 64, at House 95 in Marin City, had gone out with Hicks, who lives with his wife Marian, at House 108, in Hicks' 12-foot single outboard motor fishing boat after striped bass around noontime. Hicks said they had known each other for five years and had been fishing companions two or three years.

"The water was calm when we went out," Hicks later said. They caught their limit of striped bass and started back, to be overwhelmed by a squall near the end of the Marin Rod and Gun Club pier. Observers thought the boat capsized when caught in a trough as it started to turn.

"Sylvester shifted his weight I think—it could be that or of the fish got loose in the boat," said Hicks. "Joe was a very heavy man, maybe 250 pounds.

"All I know is that we overturned.

"How long was I in the water? That's hard to say under the circumstances — 10 minutes or a half an hour, but say maybe 15 minutes. We drifted fast."

During the rescue effort the two boats got close to the Richmond-San Rafael bridge.

"I could see police up there and hear them calling to us," said Hicks. "One of the awful things was that I felt the Coast Guard would be along soon—they said a helicopter was coming."

The Coast Guard did come, but too late to help. It found the abandoned and overturned Hicks boat and returned it to the Rod and Gun Club pier.

Patrolman Thomas Cheetham of the San Rafael police, among those gathered on the Richmond bridge said today that "it was terrible to be so near and so helpless."

"There we were, looking down and going crazy we were so frustrated with no way to lend a hand," he said. "At that time it was Joyce, Lolich's daughter, who was working with Hicks in trying to pull Sylvester aboard while Lolich kept his boat away from the bridge.

"That girl was all right and when her father praises what she did he's absolutely correct."

F. L. Bortfeld of 249 Jewell avenue, San Rafael, a correctional officer at San Quentin Prison, waded out about 10 yards to haul Sylvester in.

Police said Bortfeld tried to breathe life back into Sylvester's body. The San Rafael Fire Department attempted resuscitation without success. Finally Harold Keaton, had the body taken to the Frank J. Keaton Mortruary in Sausalito.

Meanwhile, an ambulance took Hicks to San Rafael General Hospital

Hicks was then removed to Letterman Army Hospital for further treatment. He was found to be suffering from exhaustion and several bruises. He was released today to return home.

Police initially reported Sylvester died from submersion and exhaustion, but both Hicks and Lolich expressed belief that he suffered a heart attack and succumbed about 300 yards from shore.

Sylvester's sister Eudora was at Ukiah yesterday to visit another brother in the hospital there. He was born in Kansas and is survived also by another sister, Mrs. Mary Alice Wheelan of Burlingame. Funeral services will be at noon Monday at Keaton's in Sausalito. Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery.

such a breeze and waves—so we were sort of looking around for him.

"Then suddenly we spotted this other boat, overturned, with two men hanging on the side. I'd say they were maybe 1,000 yards out from shore and just about midway between the line of the long wharf and the bridge (Richmond-San Rafael Bridge) to the south.

"We got over to them as quick as we could and I helped one of the fellows into our boat without too much trouble. Joyce was a tremendous help. She handled our boat for us, did everything. Whatever luck we had on this was due to her, really.

"Then this chap we'd got into our boat (Leslie Hicks) and I tried to get the other fellow (Joe Sylvester) in, and what a job!

"That other man is a tremendous big fellow. I'll bet he weighs all of 300 pounds."

Lolich looked along the shore again. The little group had partly dispersed, some walking away as though nothing more could be done, others standing by the sprawled body face down on the beach.

And Lolich climbed into his car beside Joyce, backed down the beach, and with the aid of another boat owner started to haul his craft onto its tow cradle.

Later the other boatman, Sol Rosenthal of San Francisco, said he had been out to fish but his small craft with single outboard engine began to leak so he returned to shore and beached his boat.

This morning at home Lolich confessed himself a physical wreck.

"I just couldn't sleep," he said. "Joyce did all right but I thought all night of whether we couldn't have saved that other man.

PERI

been in law enforcement a long time and was an A-1 officer. The people who knew him liked him and thought a lot of him. He was always there anytime we needed him."

Peri headed a six-man department, counting himself, that served Fairfax's population of more than 5,000.

When he was appointed chief, he was a one-man department for seven years. And before his appointment, he was a deputy sheriff and nightwatchman for Fairfax. He was not quite 20 years old at the time, and he was a winning middleweight boxer for the Olympic Club in San Francisco.

He was born Nov. 18, 1904, in the North Beach section of San Francisco, son of Antone and Linda Peri. The widowed Mrs. Peri still lives at 101 Willow avenue, Fairfax, the house her husband built when Andy was five.

Peri ws educated at Fairfax Grammar School and Ethan Allen School in San Francisco.

His enlistment in the Navy during World War I ended after two months when it was discovered Andy was only 16.

Before his start as Fairfax night watchman, he worked in a San Rafael bakery and for a San Anselmo plumber.

Peri figured in the arrest of Jack (Scarface) Chambers who robbed the Fairfax branch of the Bank of Italy in 1932.

Fairfax had a second bank robbery last August at the same bank, now the Bank of America. Peri then bemoaned a chance occurrence that caused him to be out of his police car and out of earshot of its radio until after the robber had time to escape. The chief was only 50 feet away from the bank at the time, giving directions to deliverymen.

Peri, in addition to his mother, is survived by his wife, the former Frances Fairbank, whom he married in 1930; two brothers, Frank Peri of Yountville and Charles Peri of Fairfax, and two sisters, Mrs. Anita De Martini of San Francisco and Mrs. Dorothy Maggio of Fairfax.

He was a member of San Rafael Elks Lodge 1108, the Knights of Columbus in San Rafael, Club Italia, Marin Rod and Gun Club and Marin County Peace Officers Assn. He also was a member of St. Rita's Catholic Church, Fairfax.

A Requiem High Mass will be said at 10:00 a.m. Saturday at St. Rita's Church. The cortege will form at 9:30 a.m. at Keaton's, Fifth avenue and E street, San Rafael. Interment will be in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Keaton chapel.

Badgers 6½-Point Favorites In Rose Bowl Classic

PASADENA (UPI) — There were few surprises today when coaches Milt Bruhn of Wisconsin and Jim Owens of Washington released their lineups for the 46th annual Rose Bowl game here tomorrow.

The men who carried the mail all season got the starting calls, although both coaches reserved the right to make changes. Bruhn said if the Badgers kicked off, soph quarterback Jim Bakken might start in place of Wisconsin's big gun, Dale Hackbart.

Although the Badgers on arrival here had listed Lowell Jenkins as their starting right tackle, Jim Heineke was announced to start as he has done for three years in a majority of Wisconsin games. The Badgers are rated 6½-point favorites.

Although for purposes of the lineup, Hobbs and Zeman were listed as halfbacks, actually Hobbs is the left halfback and Zeman the wingback while Hart is the right halfback in the spread formation designations used by the Badgers.

Hobbs arrived here 12 days ago suffering from a pulled muscle and Zeman was troubled by a pinched nerve in his neck. But under the warm sun and with lighter workouts to speed their recovery, both were reported in top condition and ready to go.

Whether he starts or gets in a few minutes later, Hackbart was ready for his top game of the season after having been hampered during regular play by several painful injuries.

From his Long Beach training quarters, Owens disclosed he would not change the lineup that brought Washington the Rose Bowl bid and a 9-1 season, its best in more than 30 years.

Although quarterback Bob Hivner was fully recovered from the broken finger that gave his understudy Bob Schloredt the chance to become the top man on the coast at the position, Schloredt will start.

That left Owens in the not unhappy position of having two quarterbacks of almost equal ability, with Hivner's edge in passing being made up by Schloredt's running and defensive talents.

A quick rather than exceptionally fast team, the Huskies will surround Schloredt with George Flemming and Don McKeta at the halfback spots and Ray Jackson at fullback.

In the line, Lee Folkins and John Meyers will open at the ends, with Kurt Gegner and Barry Bullard at tackles; the guards will be Chuck Allen and Bill Kinnune while Roy McKasson starts at center.

The Washington squad is a youthful one and there was not a single senior among the 11 starters, 10 of them being juniors, and end Meyers is a sophomore.

The Bodgers, however, are predominantly a senior team with nine of the 11 men playing for the last time tomorrow. There are only two juniors among the starters, guard Ron Perkins and end Hank Derleth. Bakken is the only soph with a chance of starting.

Whether the Badgers' experience will be a greater factor in determining the outcome than the Huskies' youth enthusiasm is the question. The decision comes tomorrow afternoon.

Happy New Year Grid Predictions; Washington To Score Rosey Upset

Tick-tock, tick-tock . . . time runneth out on 1959, so we shall hurry along to predict the outcome of the first football games in a new decade . . .

The Rose Bowl—four roses, or otherwise—Washington won't sleep here, Martha. The Huskies, Uncle George's nephews, will upset the Wisconsin cheesers by six points. So put down that hot toddy, Martha, and go out and bet a bunch . . . and I don't mean roses.

Cotton Bowl—yes, that's the stuff you'll have in your mouth tomorrow—Let's pick Syracuse to dump Texas by 12 points. Syracuse Orangemen and Texas Longhorns. Hmm. Pass a long Screwdriver, please.

Orange Bowl—Georgia (hic) to down Missouri by a fifth . . . oops, I mean five points.

Sugar Bowl—no thanks, we drink our coffee royals straight—Louisiana State to upset Ol' Mississippi by the width of a shot glass, full, of course.

Shrine Game — East over West, and never the twain shall meet, Mark. Say, by eight points. That adds up to about two quarts, hic.

And so, tick-tock, time runneth out. Cheer up, men, if you think the fifties were rough, tomorrow we'll be going like sixty.

WHAT MAY resemble a crapshooters' convention will take place on the football field of College of Marin in Kentfield Saturday afternoon, Jan. 9 when a gang of Marin County "athletes" will participate in the second annual Kneeball Game.

To be called the "Redwood Bowl," or better yet, the "Nut Bowl," the participants in this contest will play football—on their knees.

All for the benefit of the March of Dimes, the game's motto will be: "Strong legs crawl so that weak ones may walk," with all due apologies to the East-West Shrine Game.

Captains of one team, to be known as the "Kentfield Swamp Rats," are Ken Corsiglia and Gordon Tovani. The Brothers Nave (Bill, Bob, Rich), will head the other club known as the Nave Zockers.

Last year, before a roaring crowd of about 30, these teams battled to a scoreless tie. This year the sponsors hope to attract a larger audience, since the cause is a worthy one. County March of Dimes Chairman Nick Kobseff said loads of entertainment will be on hand to liven up the proceedings, such as marching bands and free pony rides for the kids. An added attraction will be the first 1960 appearance of Phil Cramp's "Las Gallinas Sanitary Non-Marching Band."

To lend a bit of class to the proceedings the "Voice of Kezar" will handle the PA system. That, of course, is Dave Scofield. He'll be assisted by NBC's Bill Guyman.

And while the bands play "Mammy," the athletes will make like Al Jolson doing the mamba, running, tackling, blocking, passing, etc. on their knees. And don't ask me how they etc. on their knees.

Naturally, the football field will be reduced in length and width. Punts and kickoffs will be executed by throwing the ball because they found it just too difficult to kick with their knees. Six men per team. A tackle is completed when any part of the ball carrier's upper torso, except the arms, touch the ground.

So climb upon my knees, sonny boy, and make Jan. 9, 1 p.m. a date on your calendar. Strong knees crawl so that weak ones may walk.

Kneeball? Man, what next!

Happy New Year. And drive carefully, because, as Tommy Manville once said, "The wife you save may be your own."

AUSSIE SKIERS VISIT MARIN

Australia's Winter Olympics ski team, en route to the Games at Squaw Valley, stopped in Marin County this week to visit the H. D. Rothrock family at 19 Garden road in Ross. The Aussies will leave for training at Mt. Shasta this weekend to prepare for the Olympics Feb. 18-28. Pictured left to right are Christine Davy, slalom, downhill and giant slalom; Rothrock, the host; Bill Day, slalom, downhill, giant slalom; Dick Walpole, cross-country; Donald Maclurcan, general manager of the team; Hal Nerdal, Nordic combination, cross-country and jump; Peter Brockhoff, slalom, downhill and giant slalom. Cal Knocks West Out Of Virginia

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's defense-minded Bears are the champions of the first annual Los Angeles Classic Basketball Tournament. But the NCAA champs had to do it the hard way—

The burly Bears from Berkeley held Jerry West, the Mountaineers' All-American forward, to eight points, including only one field goal. West didn't get his hands on the ball in the first 10 minutes and didn't score a field goal until 36 minutes were gone.

The Bears, No. 3 in the nation, won their twenty-fifth straight game. They are 9-0 this season. West Virginia, No. 2, is 10-1. The Bears edged the Mountaineers 71-70 in the 1959 NCAA finals.

TEAM VICTORY

It was clearly a team victory for Cal. Darrall Imhoff, 6-10 center, got only 5 points but collected 21 rebounds and Bill McClintock nabbed 18 off the boards. McClintock led scorers with 23 points. Tandy Gillis collected 18 while clinging to West like a corset.

In other tourney games, Southern California whipped UCLA 72-62 for third place, Illinois walloped Stanford 74-62 for fifth and Northwestern toppled Michigan 79-72 for seventh.

"We just ran out of gas," Mountaineer Coach Fred Schaus told newsmen. "We weren't just one step behind Cal. We were two. You get beat when you're one behind. You get clobbered when you're two behind."

He refused to discuss West's performance except to add:

"We didn't get the game we could have from our other four boys."

He said: "Imhoff made the difference. Gillis was great, but we couldn't get the ball on the boards. That was because of Imhoff.

"Cal outhustled us and deserved to win."

SUPERIOR BENCH

He said California's superior bench was a vital factor.

California collected 60 rebounds to West Virginia's 36. The Bears scored on 26 of 71 field goal tries for 36 per cent, the Mountaineers on 15 of 39 for 38 per cent. The Bears led 29-24 at halftime. Willie Akers, the losers' top scorer, got 11 points.

California Coach Pete Newell said: "We tried to keep the ball off West's side of the court. Basically, we used the same defense as in last year's NCAA finals, but we executed it better last night."

NEW DECADE OF COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Syracuse, Georgia, Ol' Miss, Wisconsin Bowl Favorites

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mississippi, despite a 7-3 midseason loss to Louisiana State, is favored by 7 points in their post-season rematch in the Bowl at New Orleans, La.

Wisconsin, the Big 10 titlist, is a touchdown favorites over host Washington in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

All four bowls will be radio broadcast and televised nationally.

In other bowls, Presbyterian (9-1) goes against Middle Tennessee State (9-0-1) in the Tangerine Bowl, a night battle at Orlando, Fla., and Prairie View A&M (8-2) entertains Wiley (8-2), another Texas school, in the Prairie View Bowl at Houston.

Crowds are expected to range from the 100,295 at the Rose Bowl down to 12,000 for the Tangerine. The Sugar expects 83,000, the Orange 76,500, the Cotton 75,504 and the Prarie View 18,000.

The last of the post-season games involving amateurs will be played Saturday when Arkansas vs. Georgie Tech in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, and All-Star teams clash in the East-West Shrine classic in San Francisco and the All-American Bowl at Tucson, Ariz.

There are solid reasons for the favoritism accorded in tomorrow's four big games.

Syracuse, led by All-Americas Roger Davis, a guard, and Fred Mautino, a end, swept through a 10-game schedule. Texas, ranked fourth in the Associated Press poll, won nine games and lost to TCU, but the Longhorns' defense is expected to fall short of Syracuse's. Both clubs have fine team speed and strong offense.

WIN STREAK

Georgia, beaten only by South Carolina, takes a seven-game winning streak against Missouri, the Big Eight conference runner-up. Although defeated four times, Mississippi got the bowl berth because champ Oklahoma was barred from returning by the conference's no-repeat rule. Georgia won nine but did not have to play SEC powers LSU and Mississippi.

Mississippi outplayed LSU in their regular season game, but an 89-yard punt return by All-America Billy Cannon turned a possible 3-0 Rebel victory into an LSU triumph. Both teams finished the season with 9-1 records. Mississippi was No. 2 nationally, and LSU, upset by Tennessee, was No. 3.

Arkansas (8-2), which shared the Southwest title with Texas and TCU, and Georgia Tech (6-4) are rated even in Saturday's Gator game.

BOWL LINEUP FOR TV FANS

Here's the lineup for tomorrow's post-season bowl games in college football, including team records, expected attendance and radio-TV coverage (time is Pacific Standard):

Cotton Bowl at Dallas—Syracuse (10-0) vs. Texas (9-1), 75,504, CBS TV, radio, 12:30 p.m.

Rose Bowl at Pasadena—Wisconsin (7-2) vs. Washington (9-1), 100,295, NBC TV, radio, 2 p.m.

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans—Louisiana State (9-1) vs. Mississippi (9-1), 83,000, NBC TV, radio, 11 a.m.

Orange Bowl at Miami—Missouri (6-4) vs. Georgia (9-1), 76,500, CBS TV, radio, 10 a.m.

SPEED KEY IN WEST TEAM'S UPSET PLAN

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The West will rely on speed and what it hopes will be a superior passing attack in its underdog role against the East in the Shrine All-Star Game here on Saturday.

Coach Bill Meek of Southern Methodist, head man of the western forces, won't reveal his strategy, but this he knows:

1—He has a forward wall that will be out-weighed by the opposition by 20 pounds to the man.

2—He has the fastest back in football today in Dick Bass, 190-pound College of Pacific star, who has just signed a two-year contract with the Los Angeles Rams.

3—He has, in quarterbacks Don Meredith, SMU, and Jim Walden, Wyoming, two passers superior to anything the East has to offer.

4—And in ends Chris Burford, Stanford, and Gail Cogdill, Washington State, two of the country's outstanding pass receivers.

"We worry a lot about the size of their line," Meek admits. "But nobody says we have to try and run through it."

If there is any line plunging—and there will be, just to keep the defense honest—fullback Jack Spikes of Texas Christian will handle the chore. It's not an enviable one, because across the line from him will be such men as Mike McGee, 240, Duke; Palmer Pyle, 240, Michigan State; Lou Cordileone, 245, Clemson; Gene Gossage, 235, Northwestern and Zeke Smith, 220, Auburn.

Bass and halfbacks Bill Bucek, and Larry Wilson, Utah, will be called on for the off-tackle slants and around-end romps.

Bass, although hampered by injuries most of 1959, averaged better than five yards a carry this season for COP. Bucek, says assistant West coach Pete Elliott, can do anything—run, fake, block, etc.

The East, as usual, has the "big names." Behind the powerful line will be quarterbacks Dean Look, Michigan State, and George Izo, alternating; halfbacks Ron Burton, Northwestern, Ray Jauch and Bob Jeter, Iowa, alternating; and fullbacks Bob White, Ohio State, and Bob Jarus, Purdue, with White expected to carry the brunt of the work.

With the advantage in weight, the East is expected to stick closer to the ground and grind out the yardage.

Eye-Catchers By I-J Photographers During 1959

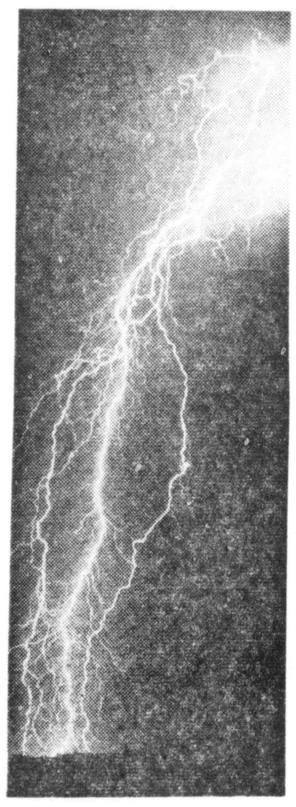

ONCE THIS WAS A LAKE—In retrospect, one of 1959's biggest Marin stories was the drought. It was not a story that developed dramatically. But as the drought continued week after week and month after month, supplies in reservoirs shrank. This is what Kent Lake looked like on Oct. 16 as photographer Bob Hax snapped Marin Municipal Water District bulldozer cutting road so power lines could be extended to where there was enough water to float a dredge bearing a pump.

THRILL THAT COMES ONCE . . . To these three youngsters, the sight of a ferry boat pulling into the slip was something brand new, something to be remembered for life. The boat is the Berkeley, which moored in Sausalito to become a floating Trade Fair. The youngsters are (from left) Kirk McNaught, Frank and Jamie Connors. You saw it on Aug. 12.

OLD CELLBLOCK GIVES UP HARD—Although more than 100 years old, the so-called Spanish cellblock of San Quentin Prison proved a tough nut for wreckers to crack. Each iron cell was enclosed in brick and mortar. Here one fell, as Ken Molino, then an I-J photographer, snapped the picture, during demolition of the old block to make way for two new buildings. This was on March 17.

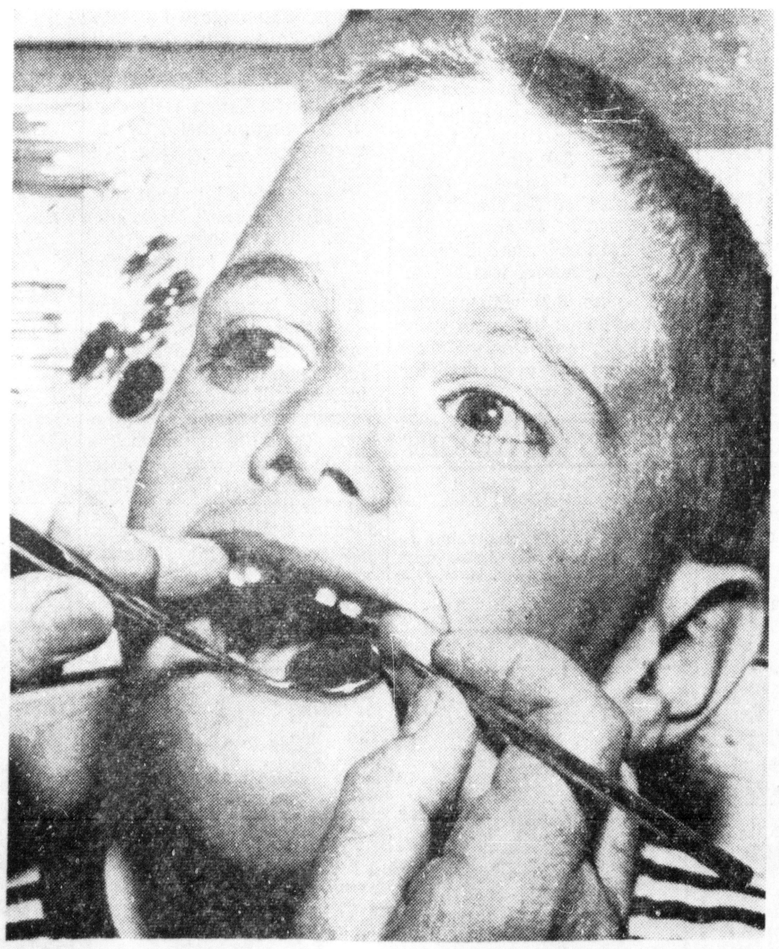

SHOW IN THE SKY — An electrical storm over San Francisco the night of Aug. 9 produced this picture for I-J photographer Dick Steinheimer, who took his camera atop a hill overlooking San Rafael's Sun Valley to photograph the heavenly spectacle.

FIRE PATROL—Some 100 acres were burned in timber fire in Frank's Valley on July 8, and photographer Hax got this picture of three airmen of 666th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron on duty as fire-fighters, patroling through the woods putting out spot blazes. Aftermath of fire was disclosure that lumber was being cut in area sought for expansion of Mt. Tamalpais State Park.

SCIENCE FAIR—Satellites and space travel somewhat pushed the exploding atom out of the spotlight for the scientific-minded this year. But model of an atom by Reed School eighth grader Dean Robinson was still capable of producing fascinated expressions seen on faces of fellow students Julie Banning and Bobbie Bonfigli in this photo of Reed Science Fair on March 16.

JILL O'LANTERN—Mrs. Victor Guilder of San Anselmo decided there's no need for Halloween jack o'lanterns to be scarefaces. To show youngsters what can be done with a pumpkinhead — plus artistic ability and a few ornaments — she produced this glamorous "Jill O'Lantern" who graced the I-J's front page on Halloween.

Badgers 6½-Point Favorites In Rose Bowl Classic

PASADENA (UPI) — There were few surprises today when coaches Milt Bruhn of Wisconsin and Jim Owens of Washington released their lineups for the 46th annual Rose Bowl game here tomorrow.

The men who carried the mail all season got the starting calls, although both coaches reserved the right to make changes. Bruhn said if the Badgers kicked off, soph quarterback Jim Bakken might start in place of Wisconsin's big gun, Dale Hackbart.

Although the Badgers on arrival here had listed Lowell Jenkins as their starting right tackle, Jim Heineke was announced to start as he has done for three years in a majority of Wisconsin games. The Badgers are rated 6½-point favorites.

Although for purposes of the lineup, Hobbs and Zeman were listed as halfbacks, actually Hobbs is the left halfback and Zeman the wingback while Hart is the right halfback in the spread formation designations used by the Badgers.

Hobbs arrived here 12 days ago suffering from a pulled muscle and Zeman was troubled by a pinched nerve in his neck. But under the warm sun and with lighter workouts to speed their recovery, both were reported in top condition and ready to go.

Whether he starts or gets in a few minutes later, Hackbart was ready for his top game of the season after having been hampered during regular play by several painful injuries.

From his Long Beach training quarters, Owens disclosed he would not change the lineup that brought Washington the Rose Bowl bid and a 9-1 season, its best in more than 30 years.

Although quarterback Bob Hivner was fully recovered from the broken finger that gave his understudy Bob Schloredt the chance to become the top man on the coast at the position, Schloredt will start.

That left Owens in the not unhappy position of having two quarterbacks of almost equal ability, with Hivner's edge in passing being made up by Schloredt's running and defensive talents.

A quick rather than exceptionally fast team, the Huskies will surround Schloredt with George Flemming and Don McKeta at the halfback spots and Ray Jackson at fullback.

In the line, Lee Folkins and John Meyers will open at the ends, with Kurt Gegner and Barry Bullard at tackles; the guards will be Chuck Allen and Bill Kinnune while Roy McKasson starts at center.

The Washington squad is a youthful one and there was not a single senior among the 11 starters, 10 of them being juniors, and end Meyers is a sophomore.

The Bodgers, however, are predominantly a senior team with nine of the 11 men playing for the last time tomorrow. There are only two juniors among the starters, guard Ron Perkins and end Hank Derleth. Bakken is the only soph with a chance of starting.

Whether the Badgers' experience will be a greater factor in determining the outcome than the Huskies' youth enthusiasm is the question. The decision comes tomorrow afternoon.

Happy New Year Grid Predictions; Washington To Score Rosey Upset

Tick-tock, tick-tock . . . time runneth out on 1959, so we shall hurry along to predict the outcome of the first football games in a new decade . . .

The Rose Bowl—four roses, or otherwise—Washington won't sleep here, Martha. The Huskies, Uncle George's nephews, will upset the Wisconsin cheesers by six points. So put down that hot toddy, Martha, and go out and bet a bunch . . . and I don't mean roses.

Cotton Bowl—yes, that's the stuff you'll have in your mouth tomorrow—Let's pick Syracuse to dump Texas by 12 points. Syracuse Orangemen and Texas Longhorns. Hmm. Pass a long Screwdriver, please.

Orange Bowl—Georgia (hic) to down Missouri by a fifth . . . oops, I mean five points.

Sugar Bowl—no thanks, we drink our coffee royals straight—Louisiana State to upset Ol' Mississippi by the width of a shot glass, full, of course.

Shrine Game — East over West, and never the twain shall meet, Mark. Say, by eight points. That adds up to about two quarts, hic.

And so, tick-tock, time runneth out. Cheer up, men, if you think the fifties were rough, tomorrow we'll be going like sixty.

WHAT MAY resemble a crapshooters' convention will take place on the football field of College of Marin in Kentfield Saturday afternoon, Jan. 9 when a gang of Marin County "athletes" will participate in the second annual Kneeball Game.

To be called the "Redwood Bowl," or better yet, the "Nut Bowl," the participants in this contest will play football—on their knees.

All for the benefit of the March of Dimes, the game's motto will be: "Strong legs crawl so that weak ones may walk," with all due apologies to the East-West Shrine Game.

Captains of one team, to be known as the "Kentfield Swamp Rats," are Ken Corsiglia and Gordon Tovani. The Brothers Nave (Bill, Bob, Rich), will head the other club known as the Nave Zockers.

Last year, before a roaring crowd of about 30, these teams battled to a scoreless tie. This year the sponsors hope to attract a larger audience, since the cause is a worthy one. County March of Dimes Chairman Nick Kobseff said loads of entertainment will be on hand to liven up the proceedings, such as marching bands and free pony rides for the kids. An added attraction will be the first 1960 appearance of Phil Cramp's "Las Gallinas Sanitary Non-Marching Band."

To lend a bit of class to the proceedings the "Voice of Kezar" will handle the PA system. That, of course, is Dave Scofield. He'll be assisted by NBC's Bill Guyman.

And while the bands play "Mammy," the athletes will make like Al Jolson doing the mamba, running, tackling, blocking, passing, etc. on their knees. And don't ask me how they etc. on their knees.

Naturally, the football field will be reduced in length and width. Punts and kickoffs will be executed by throwing the ball because they found it just too difficult to kick with their knees. Six men per team. A tackle is completed when any part of the ball carrier's upper torso, except the arms, touch the ground.

So climb upon my knees, sonny boy, and make Jan. 9, 1 p.m. a date on your calendar. Strong knees crawl so that weak ones may walk.

Kneeball? Man, what next!

Happy New Year. And drive carefully, because, as Tommy Manville once said, "The wife you save may be your own."

AUSSIE SKIERS VISIT MARIN

Syracuse, Georgia, Ol' Miss, Wisconsin Bowl Favorites

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mississippi, despite a 7-3 midseason loss to Louisiana State, is favored by 7 points in their post-season rematch in the Bowl at New Orleans, La.

Wisconsin, the Big 10 titlist, is a touchdown favorites over host Washington in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

All four bowls will be radio broadcast and televised nationally.

In other bowls, Presbyterian (9-1) goes against Middle Tennessee State (9-0-1) in the Tangerine Bowl, a night battle at Orlando, Fla., and Prairie View A&M (8-2) entertains Wiley (8-2), another Texas school, in the Prairie View Bowl at Houston.

Crowds are expected to range from the 100,295 at the Rose Bowl down to 12,000 for the Tangerine. The Sugar expects 83,000, the Orange 76,500, the Cotton 75,504 and the Prarie View 18,000.

The last of the post-season games involving amateurs will be played Saturday when Arkansas vs. Georgie Tech in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, and All-Star teams clash in the East-West Shrine classic in San Francisco and the All-American Bowl at Tucson, Ariz.

There are solid reasons for the favoritism accorded in tomorrow's four big games.

Syracuse, led by All-Americas Roger Davis, a guard, and Fred Mautino, a end, swept through a 10-game schedule. Texas, ranked fourth in the Associated Press poll, won nine games and lost to TCU, but the Longhorns' defense is expected to fall short of Syracuse's. Both clubs have fine team speed and strong offense.

WIN STREAK

Georgia, beaten only by South Carolina, takes a seven-game winning streak against Missouri, the Big Eight conference runner-up. Although defeated four times, Mississippi got the bowl berth because champ Oklahoma was barred from returning by the conference's no-repeat rule. Georgia won nine but did not have to play SEC powers LSU and Mississippi.

Mississippi outplayed LSU in their regular season game, but an 89-yard punt return by All-America Billy Cannon turned a possible 3-0 Rebel victory into an LSU triumph. Both teams finished the season with 9-1 records. Mississippi was No. 2 nationally, and LSU, upset by Tennessee, was No. 3.

Arkansas (8-2), which shared the Southwest title with Texas and TCU, and Georgia Tech (6-4) are rated even in Saturday's Gator game.

BOWL LINEUP FOR TV FANS

Here's the lineup for tomorrow's post-season bowl games in college football, including team records, expected attendance and radio-TV coverage (time is Pacific Standard):

Cotton Bowl at Dallas—Syracuse (10-0) vs. Texas (9-1), 75,504, CBS TV, radio, 12:30 p.m.

Rose Bowl at Pasadena—Wisconsin (7-2) vs. Washington (9-1), 100,295, NBC TV, radio, 2 p.m.

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans—Louisiana State (9-1) vs. Mississippi (9-1), 83,000, NBC TV, radio, 11 a.m.

Orange Bowl at Miami—Missouri (6-4) vs. Georgia (9-1), 76,500, CBS TV, radio, 10 a.m.

SPEED KEY IN WEST TEAM'S UPSET PLAN

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The West will rely on speed and what it hopes will be a superior passing attack in its underdog role against the East in the Shrine All-Star Game here on Saturday.

Coach Bill Meek of Southern Methodist, head man of the western forces, won't reveal his strategy, but this he knows:

1—He has a forward wall that will be out-weighed by the opposition by 20 pounds to the man.

2—He has the fastest back in football today in Dick Bass, 190-pound College of Pacific star, who has just signed a two-year contract with the Los Angeles Rams.

3—He has, in quarterbacks Don Meredith, SMU, and Jim Walden, Wyoming, two passers superior to anything the East has to offer.

4—And in ends Chris Burford, Stanford, and Gail Cogdill, Washington State, two of the country's outstanding pass receivers.

"We worry a lot about the size of their line," Meek admits. "But nobody says we have to try and run through it."

If there is any line plunging—and there will be, just to keep the defense honest—fullback Jack Spikes of Texas Christian will handle the chore. It's not an enviable one, because across the line from him will be such men as Mike McGee, 240, Duke; Palmer Pyle, 240, Michigan State; Lou Cordileone, 245, Clemson; Gene Gossage, 235, Northwestern and Zeke Smith, 220, Auburn.

Bass and halfbacks Bill Bucek, and Larry Wilson, Utah, will be called on for the off-tackle slants and around-end romps.

Bass, although hampered by injuries most of 1959, averaged better than five yards a carry this season for COP. Bucek, says assistant West coach Pete Elliott, can do anything—run, fake, block, etc.

The East, as usual, has the "big names." Behind the powerful line will be quarterbacks Dean Look, Michigan State, and George Izo, alternating; halfbacks Ron Burton, Northwestern, Ray Jauch and Bob Jeter, Iowa, alternating; and fullbacks Bob White, Ohio State, and Bob Jarus, Purdue, with White expected to carry the brunt of the work.

With the advantage in weight, the East is expected to stick closer to the ground and grind out the yardage.

Cal Knocks West Out Of Virginia

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's defense-minded Bears are the champions of the first annual Los Angeles Classic Basketball Tournament. But the NCAA champs had to do it the hard way—

By knocking the West out of West Virginia for a 65-45 triumph last night.

The burly Bears from Berkeley held Jerry West, the Mountaineers' All-American forward, to eight points, including only one field goal. West didn't get his hands on the ball in the first 10 minutes and didn't score a field goal until 36 minutes were gone.

The Bears, No. 3 in the nation, won their twenty-fifth straight game. They are 9-0 this season. West Virginia, No. 2, is 10-1. The Bears edged the Mountaineers 71-70 in the 1959 NCAA finals.

TEAM VICTORY

It was clearly a team victory for Cal. Darrall Imhoff, 6-10 center, got only 5 points but collected 21 rebounds and Bill McClintock nabbed 18 off the boards. McClintock led scorers with 23 points. Tandy Gillis collected 18 while clinging to West like a corset.

In other tourney games, Southern California whipped UCLA 72-62 for third place, Illinois walloped Stanford 74-62 for fifth and Northwestern toppled Michigan 79-72 for seventh.

"We just ran out of gas," Mountaineer Coach Fred Schaus told newsmen. "We weren't just one step behind Cal. We were two. You get beat when you're one behind. You get clobbered when you're two behind."

He refused to discuss West's performance except to add:

"We didn't get the game we could have from our other four boys."

He said: "Imhoff made the difference. Gillis was great, but we couldn't get the ball on the boards. That was because of Imhoff.

"Cal outhustled us and deserved to win."

SUPERIOR BENCH

He said California's superior bench was a vital factor.

California collected 60 rebounds to West Virginia's 36. The Bears scored on 26 of 71 field goal tries for 36 per cent, the Mountaineers on 15 of 39 for 38 per cent. The Bears led 29-24 at halftime. Willie Akers, the losers' top scorer, got 11 points.

California Coach Pete Newell said: "We tried to keep the ball off West's side of the court. Basically, we used the same defense as in last year's NCAA finals, but we executed it better last night."

Marin General Employees Stage Smorgasbord Party

Volunteer Pink Ladies decorated a beautiful Christmas tree and the display of homecooked goodies was under the supervision of Miss Wilda Jane Derryberry, chief dietician, and Mrs. Ruth Zimmerman, housekeeper.

All of the food was brought by employees from their own homes.

Highlight of the party was a hobby show featuring the talents of many of the employees including: a stone mosaic table by Mrs. Alice Shepley, chief telephone operator; a hand knit ski sweater by Miss Francine Vietes, RN; beautiful ceramics by Mrs. Ruth Zimmerman; ceramics by Russell Brown, laboratory technician; hand weaving by Mrs. Pat Campredon of the business office; a knit stole by Nancy Rake, admissions office, and liquid embroidery by Betty Jo Dixon, business office, and a stamp collection by Walter Jacobs of the business office.

Alpha Phis Will Hear Attorney

Alpha Phi Alumnae of Marin County will hold their first meeting of the new year Tuesday evening, Jan. 5, at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. G. Edward French, 31 Bradcliff Court, San Rafael.

"Estate Planning" is the subject of the talk to be given by attorney Elmer D. Samson, who is associated with Wallace, Garrison, Norton and Ray of San Francisco.

The group felt that women's ignorance of such matters as wills, estate planning and community property makes this an appropriate matter for discussion. Following Samson's talk there will be a question and answer period.

Co-hostesses for the evening will be Mesdames Bink Beckmann and Walter S. Wright.

All Alpha Phis are welcome to attend and may make reservations by calling Mrs. Wright, 927 Idleberry Road, San Rafael.

Busy Holiday Season For Tiburon Scouts

MILL VALLEY TENNIS CLUB BREAKFAST PLANNED SUNDAY

"Come as you are—free aspirin!" invitations read to the Mill Valley Tennis Club's after-New-Year recuperation breakfast.

For members who still feel on Sunday morning like warning the cat to quit stomping its feet the George Pritzkers, social chairmen, have devised what they call a "Mill Valley Tennis Club Health Plan."

From 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. they have arranged to fill prescriptions consisting of scrambled eggs and bacon with a suitable pick-up.

For the Pritzkers, who will be assisted by the Walter Laidlaws, this will be the last social event planned for the club before the Robert F. Ryans take over the duties of social chairmen for the coming year.

Reservations must be made by noon Friday either with the Pritzkers or at the clubhouse.

Dental Assistants To Meet Wednesday

Marin County Dental Assistants will hold their January meeting in the office of Dr. W. J. Dawson, 11 Greenfield avenue, San Rafael, on Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Dawson will talk on "Cleft Palate" and show pictures. All assistants and dentists are invited to attend.

Ross Scouts Sing Carols

Fifty-two Girl Scouts of Ross Troop 121 sang Christmas carols for residents of the Cedars and Aldersly, the Danish Home, recently.

Following the caroling a Court of Awards was held at St. John's Community House in Ross.

Five year pins were awarded to Nancy McGee, Nancy Grace and Virginia Rothrock. Nancy McGee also received a Homemaker and Child Care badge.

All the seventh grade members of the troop were recipients of the Folk Dancer badge. Other seventh grade awards were made to Gwen Parente, boating and animal raiser; Barbara Scott, home gardener and dressmaker; Susan Maclise, dressmaker; cat and dog, Marty Scott; and weather, Jeanne Garner.

First year membership stars were given all fifth graders.

Dominican Alums Plan Bridge Party Series

The Marin Chapter, Dominican Convent Alumnae Association is making final plans for the January Bridge series. All alumnae members are being asked to open their homes and invite friends to a fund-raising card party.

Members may choose any day or evening in January to have the party and may have one table or as many tables as they wish to invite. Already there are many enthusiasts who have volunteered to open their homes. A donation will be asked of each guest, as all funds raised from this project will help furnish the Second Century High School which is being planned in the Forest Meadows section of the Convent campus. The alumnae have carried a true and deep loyalty toward their Alma Mater and wish to facilitate these plans so their own daughters may attend Dominican in the beautiful new modern surroundings.

This event is under the direction of Mrs. Frank Klineman, chapter chairman, and acting as co-chairman for the affair are Mesdames James L. Thompson and Charles H. Clifford.

Alums are being contacted by telephone and some of these volunteer workers are Mesdames Henry Brandon, Rowland Chapman, Maurice Guy, Morris Katkov, Desmond MacTavish, Roderick Martinelli, Roy Olson, Harding McPhun, Henry Prien, Milton Schwartz, Stanley Raymond, Timothy O'Donoghue, Charles Willis, Edward Malley, William Costello and Thomas Burford.

To mention only a few who are planning to host parties are:

Mesdames Charles Clifford, Robert McGuinness and Wallace Curtis, who have invited 20 former classmates to luncheon at the Clifford home in San Rafael.

Mrs. Leon Smith plans a gathering of three tables and Mrs. Rowland Chapman will be hostessing another group as will Mrs. Vern Frederick Smith. Mrs. Joseph C. Hickingbotham Jr., whose lovely home was the locale for the Marin Chapter's beautifully appointed October Champagne Cocktail Party, will also be inviting a group in for an afternoon of bridge. Many mothers of day students, who have a close interest in the convent, have parties slated. Among these are Mesdames J. C. Baird, T. N. Brown, Allan Currie, Lloyd Ghiselli, Stanton Delaplane and John Healy.

Mrs. Kelly Wheeler of Belveron Gardens will be extending invitations to an evening gathering and Mrs. S. K. Herzog will be entertaining guests in her picturesque home in the convent area.

Mrs. Maury Koblick is having a mother-daughter gathering. These include Mrs. Koblick's mother, Mrs. William F. Ward; Mrs. N. Charles Brusatori and daughter Mrs. Ole Christensen; Mrs. W. S. Briscoe and her alumna daughter Mrs. A. K. Stull of San Francisco. Mrs. John C. W. Taylor III of San Francisco will be the partner of her mother-in-law, Mrs. John C. W. Taylor Jr., of San Rafael.

Those who are unable to host parties but are interested in the convent are sending donations to Mrs. Henry G. Brandon of Larkspur.

Eye-Catchers By I-J Photographers During 1959

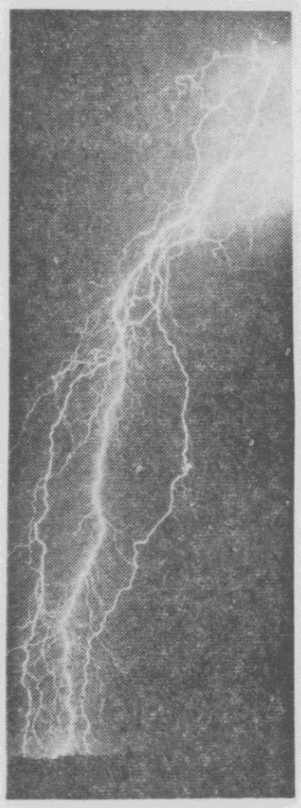

ONCE THIS WAS A LAKE—In retrospect, one of 1959's biggest Marin stories was the drought. It was not a story that developed dramatically. But as the drought continued week after week and month after month, supplies in reservoirs shrank. This is what Kent Lake looked like on Oct. 16 as photographer Bob Hax snapped Marin Municipal Water District bulldozer cutting road so power lines could be extended to where there was enough water to float a dredge bearing a pump.

THRILL THAT COMES ONCE . . . To these three youngsters, the sight of a ferry boat pulling into the slip was something brand new, something to be remembered for life. The boat is the Berkeley, which moored in Sausalito to become a floating Trade Fair. The youngsters are (from left) Kirk McNaught, Frank and Jamie Connors. You saw it on Aug. 12.

OLD CELLBLOCK GIVES UP HARD—Although more than 100 years old, the so-called Spanish cellblock of San Quentin Prison proved a tough nut for wreckers to crack. Each iron cell was enclosed in brick and mortar. Here one fell, as Ken Molino, then an I-J photographer, snapped the picture, during demolition of the old block to make way for two new buildings. This was on March 17.

FIRE PATROL—Some 100 acres were burned in timber fire in Frank's Valley on July 8, and photographer Hax got this picture of three airmen of 666th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron on duty as fire-fighters, patroling through the woods putting out spot blazes. Aftermath of fire was disclosure that lumber was being cut in area sought for expansion of Mt. Tamalpais State Park.

SCIENCE FAIR—Satellites and space travel somewhat pushed the exploding atom out of the spotlight for the scientific-minded this year. But model of an atom by Reed School eighth grader Dean Robinson was still capable of producing fascinated expressions seen on faces of fellow students Julie Banning and Bobbie Bonfigli in this photo of Reed Science Fair on March 16.

JILL O'LANTERN—Mrs. Victor Guilder of San Anselmo decided there's no need for Halloween jack o'lanterns to be scarefaces. To show youngsters what can be done with a pumpkinhead — plus artistic ability and a few ornaments — she produced this glamorous "Jill O'Lantern" who graced the I-J's front page on Halloween.

Tips On How To Save Your Money In 1960

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—The odds are that one of your new year's resolutions is to save money in 1960.

Making the resolution is easy; keeping it calls for the will power to care for the pennies as well as the dollars: Impulse spending adds up to a big outgo over a 365-day period.

So go ahead, be cheap and count the small coins. It's your money, and here are 10 small methods for saving it:

Resist the impulse to grab a cab for every trip to town. This means advance planning to give yourself a few more minutes which the bus will mean.

Make a list and take it with you when you shop; and in making your list, follow the newspaper ads carefully for special bargains and sales. But it's not a bargain unless it is something you need.

Buy small sizes of new cosmetics—cold creams and lotions—you want to test.

Buy food in amounts to suit your family. "Family size" canned goods are no saving, if yours is a family of two. Plan your buying long range—for a week or two at a time, especially if you own a freezer—and you'll find fewer foods going out into the garbage pail. Follow your newspaper food pages for guidance to plentifuls.

Try hoofing those short trips instead of cranking up the car; it's good for your health as well as your pocketbook.

A spot remover and steam iron can help toward good grooming and cut cleaning bills.

How about doing your own shampoo and home permanent occasionally.

Turn out those electric lights behind you.

Do minor alterations on new clothes and save the costly labor that goes into moving over a button or taking up a hem. And fabric inserts and hem let-outs can do wonders to expand the life of children's clothes.

CURVES WENT in and out of style in the '50s but they'll stay with us in the 1960s if fashion revolves around sex and space as forecast. The slinky sheath, left, for after dark and the relaxed Chanel look, center, for daytime are expected to hold their own through the next decade. Space travel will influence fashion but bizarre space suits, right, will probably have to wait for the next century. (UPI Telephoto)

Marin General Employees Stage Smorgasbord Party

Volunteer Pink Ladies decorated a beautiful Christmas tree and the display of homecooked goodies was under the supervision of Miss Wilda Jane Derryberry, chief dietician, and Mrs. Ruth Zimmerman, housekeeper.

All of the food was brought by employees from their own homes.

Highlight of the party was a hobby show featuring the talents of many of the employees including: a stone mosaic table by Mrs. Alice Shepley, chief telephone operator; a hand knit ski sweater by Miss Francine Vietes, RN; beautiful ceramics by Mrs. Ruth Zimmerman; ceramics by Russell Brown, laboratory technician; hand weaving by Mrs. Pat Campredon of the business office; a knit stole by Nancy Rake, admissions office, and liquid embroidery by Betty Jo Dixon, business office, and a stamp collection by Walter Jacobs of the business office.

"Estate Planning" is the subject of the talk to be given by attorney Elmer D. Samson, who is associated with Wallace, Garrison, Norton and Ray of San Francisco.

The group felt that women's ignorance of such matters as wills, estate planning and community property makes this an appropriate matter for discussion. Following Samson's talk there will be a question and answer period.

Co-hostesses for the evening will be Mesdames Bink Beckmann and Walter S. Wright.

All Alpha Phis are welcome to attend and may make reservations by calling Mrs. Wright, 927 Idleberry Road, San Rafael.

Musical Idea For New Year's

NEW YORK (UPI)—If teen-agers want to throw a New Year's Eve party, make it a jam session.

All it needs to be a success is careful planning, says the American Music Conference.

Let the youngsters provide the music and bring their own instruments. Before the party, choose a place for the bandstand. The best place is against the shortest wall of the room to provide more space for the watchers and bring out the best tonal qualities of the musicians.

Any normal-sized room will do, the conference said. It should have draperies, especially if you clear the floor of furniture, to muffle the sound slightly. If the room is bare, the music will sound too loud and sharp. If the room is too heavily loaded with curtains and over-stuffed furniture, the sound will be stifled.

Plan for rest periods and refreshments.

Let the neighbors know your plans. That should prevent complaints.

Vending Machines

NEW YORK (AP)—Chances are that in the foreseeable future you may be able to purchase a pair of shoes, a bunch of fresh posies or a gold bracelet from your neighborhood vending machine.

Steelways, official publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, says the day may not be far off when banks of vending machines will be built into store fronts to serve customers around the clock.

Already 100 different items ranging from packaged worms for fish bait to peanuts, exotic perfumes and turtle soup, are being sold through vending machines, which took in more than two billion dollars in 1958.

Celery Stalks History

NORWALK, Conn. (UPI)—Celery as we know it today was developed from a wild bitter herb which grew in the salt marshes of Europe and Asia. It wasn't until the ancient Greeks and Romans blanched bunches of wild celery that it was used as a flavoring. The Italians brought it up to date as a separate food when the flavor grew milder through improved cultivation.

Trinity Lutheran Choir Has Busy Holiday Season

The Trinity Lutheran Junior Choir consisting of 30 boys and girls, had a very busy and rewarding holiday schedule.

The Aldersly Danish Home was next on their schedule, when they sang Christmas carols. They also caroled at the Lucas Valley Farm and San Rafael General Hospital.

The Choir Mothers Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Dale Hetzman, was in charge of transportation.

Two To Speak At Novato P-TA Meet

The highly controversial subject of the 3Rs vs. progressive education will be discussed by two eminent personalities in the field of education at the Jan. 7 West Novato P-TA meeting to be held in the multi-purpose room of the West Novato school at 8 p.m.

Dr. William C. Shriner, Professor of Education and Chairman of Elementary School Field Experience Program, will express his views and opinions on the subject of education. Dr. Shriner feels that the same standards cannot apply to all children alike and that the emphasis should be on both 3Rs and life adjustment.

With Dr. Shriner will be Mrs. Henriette Koch, teacher of English and Social studies in Vallejo. She will support the belief that we should stress the academic approach in our schools. Mrs. Koch holds an A.B. in Political Science, an M. A. in Public Administration, and has been a frequent speaker on the subject of education.

Subject to debate will be the following questions:

Is mastery of subject matter the most important goal of education?

Is our elementary school program adequately preparing our children for high school?

Are some private schools in Marin County by their rigid academic program going two steps backwards or one step forward?

What is the significance of the nation-wide critical and painful self-examination of our schools?

Hostesses for the evening will be the room mothers of first grade classes.

Care Of Quilts

Quilted skirts and covers are warmest and prettiest when each quilted square is puffed out to its greatest dimension. The gas clothes dryer is a beauty aid for such items. Tumbling with low heat will restore their fluffiness. After laundering these items, do not crowd with other clothes in the gas dryer drum. Give them plenty of room so they will fluff to capacity.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Shugrue of Mill Valley announced the engagement of their daughter, Annette Dare Shugrue, to Charles Roger Hug at a recent family dinner party. The future benedict is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hug of San Anselmo.

The bride-elect, who was graduated from Tamalpais High School and College of Marin, is employed as a dental assistant in Mill Valley. She has one brother, R. W. Shugrue of San Anselmo and she is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wahrgren of Mill Valley.

The prospective bridegroom was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and College of Marin and is employed as a chemist for Dumont in San Rafael. He has two brothers, Gerald and Richard Hug of San Anselmo, and he is the grandson of Mrs. Ethel Perry of San Rafael.

Plans are being made for a February wedding.

Chop Off Pounds

NEW YORK (UPI)—Are you discouraged because exercise doesn't take off pounds overnight? You're just rationalizing, says the Nutrition Foundation, which researches the science of nutrition.

Too many weight-watchers are scared off by the lack of "crash" results in exercise, the foundation said. For instance, they rationalize that it takes seven hours of log chopping to lose a single pound. However, the foundation reported, chopping only half an hour a day would lose about two pounds a month or 26 pounds a year.

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—The odds are that one of your new year's resolutions is to save money in 1960.

Making the resolution is easy; keeping it calls for the will power to care for the pennies as well as the dollars: Impulse spending adds up to a big outgo over a 365-day period.

So go ahead, be cheap and count the small coins. It's your money, and here are 10 small methods for saving it:

Resist the impulse to grab a cab for every trip to town. This means advance planning to give yourself a few more minutes which the bus will mean.

Make a list and take it with you when you shop; and in making your list, follow the newspaper ads carefully for special bargains and sales. But it's not a bargain unless it is something you need.

Buy small sizes of new cosmetics—cold creams and lotions—you want to test.

Buy food in amounts to suit your family. "Family size" canned goods are no saving, if yours is a family of two. Plan your buying long range—for a week or two at a time, especially if you own a freezer—and you'll find fewer foods going out into the garbage pail. Follow your newspaper food pages for guidance to plentifuls.

Try hoofing those short trips instead of cranking up the car; it's good for your health as well as your pocketbook.

A spot remover and steam iron can help toward good grooming and cut cleaning bills.

How about doing your own shampoo and home permanent occasionally.

Turn out those electric lights behind you.

Do minor alterations on new clothes and save the costly labor that goes into moving over a button or taking up a hem. And fabric inserts and hem let-outs can do wonders to expand the life of children's clothes.

CURVES WENT in and out of style in the '50s but they'll stay with us in the 1960s if fashion revolves around sex and space as forecast. The slinky sheath, left, for after dark and the relaxed Chanel look, center, for daytime are expected to hold their own through the next decade. Space travel will influence fashion but bizarre space suits, right, will probably have to wait for the next century. (UPI Telephoto)

On the last day of school the individual classes celebrated with parties. John Semorile, who played Santa Claus, presented candy canes to all the children, which were donated by the Parents Club.

Cuts Decay

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—A diet high in phosphates cut tooth decay among Scandinavian school children.

A year-long test, revealed by Dr. Robert S. Harris of the Massachusettes Institute of Technology, showed that the diet reduced decay by 50 per cent. Similar tests now are planned in the western United States and in Brazil.

Carolers Highlight Patients Christmas

Christmas festivities at Marin General Hospital were highlighted this year by groups of carolers who added joy to the season for those hospitalized.

One hundred and twenty-five Girl Scouts from the San Anselmo schools under the direction of Mesdames M. Dos Reis Jr., W. E. Richardson and David Hamm of San Anselmo entertained the patients with carols.

Members of the Marin County YMCA under the leadership of Mrs. George Meyers of San Rafael sang Christmas songs. That same evening, The Dioctos, a group from Marin College under the leadership of Carolyn Meherin, president of the group, sang joyous Noel.

Carolers from the choir of the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo cheered the patients. Job's Daughters, under the direction of Mrs. Gerard H. Nault, sang on Dec. 22 and on the night before Christmas Eve, the YWCA of Marin County sang Christmas greeting under the direction of Mrs. Doreen Dorward of Kentfield.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

A Decade Ends Tonight, But We're Off On A New One

A decade ends at midnight tonight. It was 10 crowded, hectic years for Marin County. The major problem was people — lots of them — thousands of them. And the end is not yet in sight. Even more thousands will come to the county in the 1960s, bringing more and bigger problems with them.

In 1950 Marin had a cozy little population of 85,619. That included a "record" growth in the previous 10 years, brought about by the opening of the Golden Gate Bridge. But today, the State Department of Finance estimates there are 144,600 residents in Marin, a population gain of more than 70 per cent.

With Marin, the Independent-Journal has grown. In 1950 we had 12,560 subscribers served from our San Rafael office. Today we are approaching the 27,000 mark, covering the county from three additional offices spread from Novato to Southern Marin and a new and modernized one in San Rafael. And we'll be growing in the next 10 years as well.

In 1950 deadly Waldo grade squeezed cars through a single tunnel on four lanes of highway, while north of San Rafael Highway 101 swung its death strip from three to four lanes and back to three in a travesty on safety. The Black Point cutoff, just two lanes wide, furnished more than its share of the accident statistics.

Today a divided six-lane freeway reaches from the Golden Gate Bridge to San Rafael, and four lanes, most of the distance divided, from San Rafael to Sonoma County and across the Black Point cutoff.

But even this improved transport route hasn't been able to keep up with the traffic. The Golden Gate Bridge is preparing to spend 2½ million dollars to provide four-lane traffic in the direction of the peak traffic. The Bay Area Rapid Transit District, which didn't even exist when the 1950s started, will have a definite plan within six months for presentation to the voters. There's still a question as to whether Marin will be in or out of the plan.

The proposed San Francisco-Tiburon Bridge became a bitter battle which lapsed into a temporary truce. Crowded Highway 101 promises a renewal long before the century is two-thirds gone.

The now modest county airport program, a thing which didn't even exist a decade ago, will be enlarged and expanded in the next 10 years. With it will come an increase in industrial development and the tourist trade, both aimed at bringing a wider tax base to Marin to stem the ever-increasing tax load on the property owners.

For 10 years we have battled over how to house our county government. It looks like the 1960s will see the problem solved.

Some progress has been made in consolidation of local governmental services, with cities and the county going together on assessing and tax collecting procedures. This trend will increase and speed up in the next 10 years, eliminating many of the artificial and overlapping boundaries which jig-saw our county.

Smog, about which we were twitted when we reported its dangers not many years ago, came to Marin and the rest of the Bay Area. Now we seek ways of controlling it.

Our schools, which have done a rather remarkable job in the county in keeping pace with our mushroom growth, will get no respite in the years ahead. Even the county's major high schools, which have increased from three in 1950 to seven today, with an eighth under construction, will have to be enlarged. Our junior college hasn't really felt the surge of new students—but it will. Perhaps so too will the North Bay State College, if we are successful in getting it established in the Novato area.

And while we have made great strides in each of these fields, we will soon need to take concrete action for importing water to the county, for providing a recreational area fronting on the Bay, for improving the county roads, for solving the bottleneck developing on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, for new city facilities in several of our cities, and for parking practically everywhere.

We have seen the demise of the ferryboat and of the passenger train to Eureka. The old Marin City is fast disappearing to be replaced by a new type of housing. The agricultural lands have begun to disappear as homes sprout in pastures, but nowhere's near as fast as they will in the next 10 years.

We will see our tidelands begin to fill in; perhaps you'll be able to drive out to the Marin Islands. Inverness and Stinson Beach will grow as tourist attractions, as Sausalito and Belvedere-Tiburon have in recent years.

We've had problems before and we'll have them in the future with juvenile delinquents, the elder citizens, the unfortunates, and the ill.

But we'll tackle these and other problems as we go along, planning for them as best we can and meeting them face to face when they get here. We have learned that regardless of the problems and the heartaches ahead, we are living in the best county in the best state in the best nation in the world — Marvelous Marin.

PLEDGES NOT REDEEMED

Did The Parties Keep Platform Promises?

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — The season of hope and giving is a good time to examine how the political parties followed up their 1956 convention platform promises, made so easily as they chose their candidates for President.

After three years of effort by a Republican administration and a Democratic-controlled Congress, most pledges are yet to be redeemed.

Congressional Quarterly examined the 1956 platforms, plank by plank, and then traced specific action — or inaction — in each field. Here is a summary of the highlights.

THE ONE clear-cut promise kept was that of statehood for Hawaii and Alaska. Both parties endorsed statehood. Alaska became the 49th state of the union in 1958 and Hawaii the 50th this year.

Both parties promised "full parity" for farmers, but the farmers' parity ration stood at 82 in 1957, 85 in 1958 and 81 for the first 11 months of 1959.

Parity is the ratio between prices paid by farmers and prices received by farmers for their agricultural products. A compromise conservation reserve program was passed and signed, fulfilling in part another promise made by both parties.

● NEITHER PARTY lived up to its pledge to provide federal aid to school construction. The Republican platform urged a five-year federal school construction program. Although the President asked for construction aid in 1957, he did not mention it in 1958 and, in 1959, he changed the request to one for federal support for local school bonds.

The Democratic platform also pledged "federal fiancing to assist states and local communities to build schools." But the House in 1959 killed a school construction bill. A Democratic-sponsored construction bill is now bottled up in the Democratic-controlled House Rules Committee.

● Both platforms contained general pledges to extend civil rights and eliminate discrimination. In 1957, Congress passed its first civil rights legislation in 75 years, with the vigorous support of President Eisenhower. Despite pressure for further civil rights legislation in 1959, the only action was extension for two years of the Civil Rights Commission, which was set up in the 1957 bill.

● THE DEMOCRATS' promise to labor was delivered in reverse. In 1956, the Democratic platform said "we unequivocally advocate repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act . . ." The labor reform bill passed this year included four provisions specifically strengthening the Taft-Hartley Act; a majority of Democrats voted for it.

The Republicans promised to "revise and improve" Taft-Hartley. They strongly supported the 1959 labor reform bill, which also contained a "bill of rights" for union members.

● BOTH PARTIES followed through on their pledges to continue foreign aid. The Democrats promised a "realistic reappraisal" of the foreign aid program.

Early in 1957, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee completed an exhaustive study of foreign aid. Among other things, it recommended a revolving fund for development loans, which was set up. However, effort to put the Development Loan Fund on a long-term basis met with resistance first in Congress and later in the administration and the DLF still must get year-to-year appropriations.

Congress and the administration have one more year in which to follow through on the many other pledges made in 1956.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Appreciation For Paperboy's Service

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

For more than 25 years we have been receiving the Independent and for several months the paper has been delivered by Wayne Oare. (I called your office today to learn his name).

I recall carriers in the past who used to call to make collections and I had considered paying off in pennies and tossing them around in the yard or maybe on the top of the porch where I sometimes found my paper! That, however, is the exception and not the rule!

For several months we've had Wayne Oare on our route and he's perfect! We have the kind of front yard filled with shrubbery and vines where he could play "hide and seek" with me. Instead, he delivers my paper up a short flight of stairs and to my desk. Usually, he even picks up a San Francisco evening paper which we also read — more than often from the sidewalk in front of the office — and brings it, too!

When the I-J advises that it's collection time for the news-boys, I'm always glad to see him! He's a lad who is getting good business training for the time when he has helped work his way through school and is ready for a more important position. He will be a success in whatever he attempts.

Having been a news-boy myself, more years ago than I like to remember, I have to take this opportunity to express my appreciation for the kind of service this youngster affords his customers!

20 YEARS AGO

Casting aside construction of an exercise yard as an unsatisfactory solution to the unsanitary conditions at Marin County's "smelly" jail, the county board of supervisors moved to erect a new jail at Fifth avenue and Court street.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By RANDALL GOULD

Quick Buck Is Fine Sample Of Marin Wild Life; There Are Others

Probably there is no more picturesque sample of Marin wild life than the quick buck, sporting and cavorting over our realtor-beloved landscape.

Can this be our ideal symbol of a better life for 1960?

Some don't think so. They regard our county as a place to spend money, not to make it. They will fight for peace at the first drop of a re-zoning hint.

At times, the view halloos of the quick buck hunters and the angry uproar of those who favor quiet is enough to bang one's ears off. So let us get off in a corner and rake together a morsel of miscellany.

THOSE OF US who mingle with Marin's public personages often get odd glimpses which we ordinarily keep out of the paper due to such causes as irrelevancy, the law of libel, and desire not to spoil our reportorial pitch with the victims.

So as a rule I would be much too discreet to report a small recent mishap to Mrs. Mary Summers, county planning directors.

An eager beaver if ever there was one (or should I say "beaveress"?), Mrs. Summers evidently got up in a big hurry the other morning. She may have been in a daze due to a late night meeting. Anyway, she showed up for her planning chores wearing mismatched shoes.

NOBODY WOULD have known had she not been so horrified, mortified and generally in a tizzy. Not that she had on one black shoe and one brown shoe; they were both brown, and of the same hue, and both had bows in front.

But anyone walking along behind, and able to keep this energetic lady in view, might have noticed that at the rear of one shoe there was a strap. At the rear of the other there wasn't. Ah, the shame and pity of it all!

Obviously a person has to be a professional planner fully to plumb the depths of humiliation when personal planning goes awry.

TAKE A LESS distressing tale. Just before the rains started, I noticed one noontime that Marin's district attorney, Bill Weissich, had stepped over to the sun dial just off Fourth street on the county building greensward and was fiddling with the thing.

Turned out he was setting it right. And, he confided, this is a rather regular public-spirited chore.

The top isn't fastened solidly and due to mischief-makers earthquakes, and perhaps contraction and expansion from heat and cold, the thing turns back and forth a trifle.

This can throw it off as much as an hour, which Weissich, as a man of method deplores. So he continually sets it right, and those busy people on the benches no doubt profit by being able to maintain punctuality. Weissich can see only one way out of this chore which is that sometime he must remember to buy some chewing gum and anchor the dad-blamed thing down.

THERE COULD BE no better moment than this to mention a news tip recently volunteered by Supervisor William D. Fusselman, who qualifies as a publicity expert in my opinion.

Fusselman heard that a piece I wrote about a cat attracted some notice from readers. This did not surprise him, but he passed on an observation that if you really want to kick up a fuss, just print something having to do with mistreatment of dogs. Remember that old song about "Ya gotta quit kickin' my dog around"?

Give a dog a hard time and you're in for one yourself, in other words.

SPACE IS RUNNING out and maybe your patience too. But let one thing about these random observations be stressed. They may be minor, but they're all strictly Marin County products. That should qualify them for attention by my fine employer (till contrary notice) the I-J.

Let a news item come to my notice and I apply one infallible test as a means of keeping solid with the bosses. I tell myself:

"In Marin, it's in. In Petaluma, it's laid an egg."

Congress Will Face Demands For Tighter Control On Firearms

Before the next session of Congress is far along, there will be a strong demand by law enforcement agencies and public opinion generally to tighten control over the private possession of firearms.

Attention will be focused on how teen-age gangs, as well as professional criminals, can get their hands on all kinds of lethal weapons.

Congress will need to take care, I think, not to pass indiscriminately a lot of restrictions which either cannot be enforced or which can possibly do more harm than good.

I AM NOT suggesting that no new legislation is in order. There are two sides to this matter and neither should be lightly dismissed. They present a dilemma which must be resolved prudently.

There is the need to protect people from illicit or incompetent use of firearms and there is the need to preserve the citizen's right to protect himself and to use weapons responsibly for recreation.

This points out the basic difference in the two viewpoints which bear upon the regulation of firearms among those who stress the danger in widespread ownership of such weapons and those who see the danger in the lack of a well-armed citizenry trained in their proper use.

THE INCREASE in juvenile violence has greatly strengthened the demand for stricter general supervision of the ownership of lethal weapons.

New York Supreme Court Justice John E. Cone, who heads a committee to ban teen-age weapons, told a Senate Judiciary investigation of juvenile delinquency that nearly 700 youths aged 16 through 20 had been arrested in New York City in 1958 for possessing dangerous weapons, an increase of almost 700 per cent since 1940.

A survey of 133 distributors of switchblades showed that 75 per cent of their mail orders come from juveniles under 20; more than two-fifths of the group were between the ages of 11 and 15.

Guns are widely advertised for shipment to individual purchasers in periodicals which appeal to teen-agers. The prices are often within the reach of their pocketbooks. Although firearms are barred from the U.S. mails, orders for them may be transmitted by mail.

THE NATIONAL Rifle Association and various sportsmen's organization argue that over-restrictive laws on the ownership of firearms make it harder for law-abiding persons to defend themselves and deprive the nation of valuable skills.

But the National Rifle Association proposes one piece of legislation which might usefully be carried further. It favors a law which is now in effect in a dozen streets and which requires that the applicant for a hunter's license pass a course in safe gun handling before he can legally possess a hunting weapon.

For Highbrow New Year Fete, Try A Homemade Hangover

NEW YORK (AP) — Classless America will be divided into two classes tonight.

They will consist of people who intend going to a New Year's Eve party even if it kills them, and people who say, "I wouldn't be caught dead at a New Year's Eve party."

The second group is distinctly intellectual and highbrow. Its members dismiss as lowbrow and mentally childish anyone who enjoys anything as incredibly gauche and naive as a New Year's celebration. Your true highbrow would rather lose a front tooth than be found enjoying himself in public fun.

However, there are a number of constructive ways to spend New Year's Eve without imbibing yourself blind at a raffish and raucous party.

Here are a few tips:

If you have been postponing having your appendix taken out, tonight is the time to have it removed. There is no safer place on New Year's Eve than a good hospital. And your surgeon will thank you. You will have kept him from starting 1960 with a hangover.

Hold an old-fashioned taffy pull in your kitchen. By the time you scrape the sticky stuff off your hands, it will be after midnight.

Get out a pad and some pencils and begin figuring how you can pay your Christmas bills and still meet your income taxes. Before you know it you'll be worn and drawn — and it'll be dawn.

AT 9 P.M., sit down and start making a list of all the wonderful things that happened to you in 1959. At 9:05 p.m. take a glass of warm milk and a sleeping pill, and go to bed.

You and your wife each take a volume of an encyclopedia and take turns reading exciting passages aloud to each other.

Fill a picnic cooler full of cold beer and drink it as you lay stretched out all alone on the floor in front of your television set watching its program visits to public New Year's Eve revelries. Be sure to sneer throughout.

THIS IS HIGHBROW living at its best. You may wake up Friday with a hangover but, unlike all the guilty public lowbrows, you won't have to smuggle yours into the house.

To be a true-blue highbrow, your New Year's morning hangover has to be strictly homemade.

Myron Cohen tells about a junior clerk in a silk house who tip-toed into his boss' office and announced, "There's a beautiful girl outside asking to see you." "Show her in," beamed the boss — but after she had left, the junior clerk was hastily recalled.

"How dare you tell me that old crow you sent in was a beautiful girl?" he exploded. "I'm sorry," apologized the clerk, "but it occurred to me that she just possibly might have been your wife."

"Damn it all," mourned the boss, "she is!"

Women Cite Gains During The 1950's

NEWARK, N. Y. (UPI)—What do you consider the most significant development for women in the past 10 years?

More than half a million women were asked this question at fashion shows across the country by a jewelry firm.

The women cited frozen, instant and packaged foods, outdoor cooking, aerosol cans, hair-coloring, wash-and-wear clothes, automatic dishwashers and clothes dryers, automobile power steering and braking, and shopping centers. Also mentioned were the increased use of color and the acceptance of women in business and politics.

Musical Idea For New Year's

All it needs to be a success is careful planning, says the American Music Conference.

Let the youngsters provide the music and bring their own instruments. Before the party, choose a place for the bandstand. The best place is against the shortest wall of the room to provide more space for the watchers and bring out the best tonal qualities of the musicians.

Any normal-sized room will do, the conference said. It should have draperies, especially if you clear the floor of furniture, to muffle the sound slightly. If the room is bare, the music will sound too loud and sharp. If the room is too heavily loaded with curtains and over-stuffed furniture, the sound will be stifled.

Plan for rest periods and refreshments.

Let the neighbors know your plans. That should prevent complaints.

Vending Machines

NEW YORK (AP)—Chances are that in the foreseeable future you may be able to purchase a pair of shoes, a bunch of fresh posies or a gold bracelet from your neighborhood vending machine.

Steelways, official publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, says the day may not be far off when banks of vending machines will be built into store fronts to serve customers around the clock.

Already 100 different items ranging from packaged worms for fish bait to peanuts, exotic perfumes and turtle soup, are being sold through vending machines, which took in more than two billion dollars in 1958.

Celery Stalks History

NORWALK, Conn. (UPI)—Celery as we know it today was developed from a wild bitter herb which grew in the salt marshes of Europe and Asia. It wasn't until the ancient Greeks and Romans blanched bunches of wild celery that it was used as a flavoring. The Italians brought it up to date as a separate food when the flavor grew milder through improved cultivation.

Trinity Lutheran Choir Has Busy Holiday Season

The Trinity Lutheran Junior Choir consisting of 30 boys and girls, had a very busy and rewarding holiday schedule.

The Aldersly Danish Home was next on their schedule, when they sang Christmas carols. They also caroled at the Lucas Valley Farm and San Rafael General Hospital.

The Choir Mothers Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Dale Hetzman, was in charge of transportation.

Two To Speak At Novato P-TA Meet

The highly controversial subject of the 3Rs vs. progressive education will be discussed by two eminent personalities in the field of education at the Jan. 7 West Novato P-TA meeting to be held in the multi-purpose room of the West Novato school at 8 p.m.

Dr. William C. Shriner, Professor of Education and Chairman of Elementary School Field Experience Program, will express his views and opinions on the subject of education. Dr. Shriner feels that the same standards cannot apply to all children alike and that the emphasis should be on both 3Rs and life adjustment.

With Dr. Shriner will be Mrs. Henriette Koch, teacher of English and Social studies in Vallejo. She will support the belief that we should stress the academic approach in our schools. Mrs. Koch holds an A.B. in Political Science, an M. A. in Public Administration, and has been a frequent speaker on the subject of education.

Subject to debate will be the following questions:

Is mastery of subject matter the most important goal of education?

Is our elementary school program adequately preparing our children for high school?

Are some private schools in Marin County by their rigid academic program going two steps backwards or one step forward?

What is the significance of the nation-wide critical and painful self-examination of our schools?

Hostesses for the evening will be the room mothers of first grade classes.

Care Of Quilts

Quilted skirts and covers are warmest and prettiest when each quilted square is puffed out to its greatest dimension. The gas clothes dryer is a beauty aid for such items. Tumbling with low heat will restore their fluffiness. After laundering these items, do not crowd with other clothes in the gas dryer drum. Give them plenty of room so they will fluff to capacity.

Chop Off Pounds

NEW YORK (UPI)—Are you discouraged because exercise doesn't take off pounds overnight? You're just rationalizing, says the Nutrition Foundation, which researches the science of nutrition.

Too many weight-watchers are scared off by the lack of "crash" results in exercise, the foundation said. For instance, they rationalize that it takes seven hours of log chopping to lose a single pound. However, the foundation reported, chopping only half an hour a day would lose about two pounds a month or 26 pounds a year.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

A Look-Ahead At What's Likely In Marin's Restaurant Circles

Accompanied by the blare of noisemakers and streams of serpentine, 1959 will secede from the calendar tonight and mark the close of a year as active in the dining and night spots of Marin as we have seen since this column was begun.

Whether it's because Marin residents or outside visitors have become more conscious of increased opportunities for choice wining and dining would be hard to say. Perhaps it is just a natural result of the county's growth in population.

Whatever the underlying cause, many restaurateurs have been alternately encouraged and distracted by the unrhythmetic pulses of animation which make their field an uncertain one at best—in Marin, especially unpredictable.

In spite of this we'll stick out our necks and make certain predictions for 1960—little ones, mostly, based on the trends of 1959 and scraps from our wandering.

MANY THERE are who say Marin already has too many restaurants. So? We'll forecast at least four brand new ones during the next 12 months. Partially offsetting this, one, maybe two of the present crop will drop out of the running. Three, possibly four will change ownership. Net gain will be two or three.

Look for Alexis Merab (he of the swank Tangier on San Francisco's Nob Hill) to come up with the opening of an equally swank and luscious dinery on Wood Island, Greenbrae, about the middle or afternoon of the year. No longshot prediction, this. He's completed a parking area for 65 cars. Next in line is the chateau itself, but Alexis is a fussy person who won't be satisfied with mediocrity.

Ondine, of course, opens up tomorrow night about two feet higher and some 50 feet to windward. But the quarters below are still incomplete and may remain so for another three or four months. This is the site of a less formal and less expensive eatery which remains nameless at the moment, though many suggestions have been submitted. Try your luck at it. You may be the lucky winner and also hasten completion if Messrs. Gudekunst, Martinez, Jordin, et al, can become properly enthused over the title.

SOMETIME soon, Sabella's will start promoting its lunch trade, though what needs promoting about it is beyond me. Low calory, high protein foods will be emphasized for slim waistlines (you mean I've been adding these extra pounds with fish?) which are likely to appeal to the overnourished.

Return of Bermuda Palms to full restaurant status? Not likely! Whitey Litchfield has had his fill of it. He prefers conventions and parties from 30 on up with fewer headaches and predetermined profits. The Flamingo ballroom would make a swell spot for a grand scale night club with floor shows and name artists, but it would take a man well versed in show biz to make it pay off which Whitey agrees he is not.

Likeliest place to gather momentum is the Wye Club—slow, maybe, but solid. Mindful of his predecessors' failures to keep in black ink, Paul Di Pietro will play it cautious and not go overboard. We forecast a gradual expansion of the menu from hofbrau upward. Two good chefs here to help him are Tex Trent and Les Johnston.

It's a sure bet that Rickey's or Bob's of Marin or both will blazen the style-show wagon in spring and summer. Just a hunch: There's a possibility Bob's may go for a dance orchestra regularly on weekends, but then we thought this might take place in 1959 and it didn't.

LITTLE SWEDEN in Marin—a good chance something will happen here for better or for worse. Inga Lindholm talks of selling her Novato ranch and and adding more Little Swedens to her chain. She's a grand person, but to my mind, in doing this, it will deprive the Novato spot on the hill of something important without her personal touch and attention.

Look for a change in menu at Cloud 5, Novato. Christine Bolton's aunt Annie Hessenmueller arrives from Munich, Germany in January, and with her cooking talents enlisted it's safe to say the bill of fare will turn Deutsch uber alles. Then how about some steins for atmosphere and calling it Die Fuente Wolke? Or something?

ADDLIKELIES: A wine license for El Paseo, Mill Valley . . . Expansion or a new location for La Petite Auberge, San Rafael . . . A Rolls-Royce limousine for Fleur d'Lys, San Anselmo . . . A new tropical drink for Tiburon Tommie . . . Still another Tiburon business for Kirby Atterbury (no, probably not until 1961, maybe) . . . Completion of Sam Zakessian's dining room—Zack's, Sausalito . . . Something on the Sausalito sand spit besides sightseers.

Cafe Owner Sued Over Fight, Arrest

A Corte Madera resident is suing for $75,000 damages against Sam Vella and his employees, charging he was beaten and falsely arrested last month.

Keith J. Thomson of Mariner's Cove in Corte Madera filed the suit in Marin Superior Court against Vella, who owns Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon.

Thomson alleges he was beaten by Denny Miller and Gene Burke, employees of Vella, and several others. Thomson says he was charged with assault and battery, then tried for disturbing the peace but was found innocent.

Thomas complains he suffered a brain concussion, fractured nose, other physical injuries, and humiliation and degradation by being arrested and tried.

Execution Date Set For Officer's Slayer

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—James E. Hooton, 27-year-old slayer of a policeman, yesterday was sentenced to death in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber March 18.

Superior Court Judge Leroy Dawson pronounced sentence after he received word that the state Supreme Court had upheld Hooten's first degree murder conviction by a jury Jan. 14.

IT WAS BAD DAY FOR FORDS IN BIRMINGHAM

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—There were just too many Fords for police the other day.

Isaac Ford, 22, was driving a Ford belong to his Ford dealer employer when he collided with another Ford.

Escapee Sent To Isolation

Rapist Anthony J. Garrity, 28-year-old San Quentin convict who Sunday evaded prison guards for two hours and 45 minutes during a futile escape attempt, must serve 29 days in solation for his trouble.

The prison disciplinary committee levelel the penalty and decided not to refer Garrity to the Marin County district attorney for prosecution. Instead, he was referred to the prison psychiatrist.

The felon, who once escaped from the San Francisco County Jail in San Bruno, hid out in the prison late Saturday night after fashioning a dummy out of prison dungarees, towels and a tin can and placing it in his cell. He was found in a classroom.

Garrity is serving two concurrent terms of one-to-20 years from San Francisco for attemped rape and escape.

Hub City Chamber Directors To Elect

Installation ceremonies will take place at a 7 p.m. dinner meeting Jan. 14 at the Buon Gusto Villa in Fairfax.

Fred F. Enemark, president of the Marin County Industrial Development Foundation, and Douglas J. Flautt, newly appointed San Anselmo city administrator, will be principal speakers, said George G. Washburn, chamber secretary.

A slate of proposed officers is being prepared by a three-man nominations committee, Mozart Kaufman, Sydney Braverman and Marin Christensen.

Two Complete Work At San Francisco U.

Two Marin County residents, Ray Eubanks of Larkspur and A. F. Lebel of Alto, have received certificates of completion for work at the University of San Francisco's Labor-Management School.

The school, which is nationally known for its courses in the labor-management field, has Rev. Andrew C. Boss, S.J., as its director.

Lawyer Sends New Chessman Appeal To Supreme Court

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Condemned author Caryl Chessman's attorney is asking the U. S. Supreme Court to set aside its Dec. 14 ruling denying Chessman a rehearing.

Chessman, 38, has been dodging the gas chamber at San Quentin Prison since his 1948 conviction for a series of sex crimes and kidnaping. His execution date is set for Feb. 19.

Atty. A. L. Wirin of the American Civil Liberties Union said he forwarded a petition to the Supreme Court yesterday asking that it set aside the Dec. 14 ruling because the court did not explain its reasons for turning down Chessman.

Here's Marin Movie Fare For Weekend

By LESLIE DARD

The Holiday weekend film fare:

RAFAEL THEATRE

Filmed in Monterey and Carmel, "A Summer Place" (Technicolor) — opening Sunday in San Rafael—is about six people involved in adult and adolescent passions:

Richard Egan, who returns to an exclusive resort with Constance Ford, his wife, and there meets his old flame, Dorothy McGuire, and her husband, Arthur Kennedy. Also involved are Egan's daughter (Sandra Dee) and Miss McGuire's son (Troy Donohue).

The film deals with divorce, second marriages and the problem of young love which has gone "too far."

TAMAPAIS AND SEQUOIA THEATERS

"Journey to the Center of the Earth" (color, CinemaScope) is a tongue-in-cheek spoof of the Jules Verne story. It has been held over at the San Anselmo theater, and opens on the Mill Valley screen Sunday.

James Mason portrays a scientist whose protege is Pat Boone. Along with beauteous Arlene Dahl, they head for a crater in Iceland and eventually the center of the earth.

Along the way, they encounter many striking and imaginative scenes. And they meet many dangerous forms of life. Enough to make a 12-part Saturday afternoon cliff-hanging serial.

MARIN THEATRE

"Happy Anniversary" is a frequently hilarious farce. It stars David Niven and Mitzi Gaynor and is now showing in Sausalito.

It's about a city couple celebrating their 13th anniversary with her parents. Niven, too full of good cheer, gives them the lowdown on what went on before their wedding.

Before the dust settles, Mitzi has locked herself in the bedroom, the in-laws are shocked and the teen-age daughter is telling a TV audience all about her parents' "indiscretions."

The film pokes fun at in-laws, TV, brats, progressive schools, bartenders, expense account ormances and what have you. Not for children.

NOVATO THEATER

"Gidget" (CinemaScope, color) is a charming, unpretentious little film aimed at youthful audiences. It deals, compassionately and humorously, with the growing pains of young people who are neither criminal nor delinquent.

Sandra Dee stars as "Gidget" — a contraction of girl and midget — who's adopted as a mascot by the Malibu Beach surfboard set. Cliff Robertson plays the leader of the beach bums, a carefree, romantic figure whose easy existence appeals to the local lads. Jimmy Darren — currently a singing star—appears as one of the latter, a rich enough youngster who worships Robertson and decides to follow his way of life.

"Gidget" solves its problems neatly and nicely, it pokes no fun at youth or youthful problems. The sons are diverting (sung by the Four Preps), the photography more than adequate, especially in the surfboard sequences.

The co-feature is "Senior Prom," which offers Louis Prima and Keely Smith, two show business stars, in action.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Two selected revivals are current at the peninsula playbox.

"Teahouse of the August Moon," a comedy starring Marlon Brando and Glenn Ford (in color), one of the more pleasant Hollywood offerings of recent years, and "Green Fire," a film made by Grace Kelly just before she hit the big time. Her co-stars are Stewart Granger and the late Paul Douglas.

In the main feature, Ford plays a lieutenant who's "guided" by the shrewd Sakini (Brando) during the Okinawan occupation. Sakini's deals are both charming and funny.

LARK THEATRE

"Wild Strawberries" has been held over in Larkspur.

Written and directed by Ingmar Bergman, this brilliant Swedish film stars Victor Sjostrom as a distinguished doctor who, in the course of a day, experiences his ressurection as a human being.

Bergman uses the language of dream and symbol to bring about the change in this eminent but cold—man.

The entire tale is told with sometimes chilling clarity, sometimes beautiful warmth, and the help of lovely Ingrid Thulin as the daughter-in-law and Gunnar Bjornstrand as the son.

Highly recommended.

MARIN MOTOR MOVIES

Hope Lange, whose heart is broken several times before she finds true love;

Suzy Parker, who tumbles to her death after she has been cruelly used by Louis Jourdan;

Diane Baker, a little innocent who is misled by a playboy but manages to find a man who will love her in spite of her past.

FAIRFAX THEATER

"It Started with a Kiss" (color, CinemaScope) is a convention-flouting romantic comedy starring Glenn Ford and Debbie Reynolds.

Ford and Debby portray impetuous lovers who wed after knowing each other only a day because the groom must return to his base in Spain. When she finally joins him it is with serious doubts.

Her solution: a platonic relationship until she's sure about him.

The scripters tossed away the rule book on this one.

A Decade Ends Tonight, But We're Off On A New One

A decade ends at midnight tonight. It was 10 crowded, hectic years for Marin County. The major problem was people — lots of them — thousands of them. And the end is not yet in sight. Even more thousands will come to the county in the 1960s, bringing more and bigger problems with them.

In 1950 Marin had a cozy little population of 85,619. That included a "record" growth in the previous 10 years, brought about by the opening of the Golden Gate Bridge. But today, the State Department of Finance estimates there are 144,600 residents in Marin, a population gain of more than 70 per cent.

With Marin, the Independent-Journal has grown. In 1950 we had 12,560 subscribers served from our San Rafael office. Today we are approaching the 27,000 mark, covering the county from three additional offices spread from Novato to Southern Marin and a new and modernized one in San Rafael. And we'll be growing in the next 10 years as well.

In 1950 deadly Waldo grade squeezed cars through a single tunnel on four lanes of highway, while north of San Rafael Highway 101 swung its death strip from three to four lanes and back to three in a travesty on safety. The Black Point cutoff, just two lanes wide, furnished more than its share of the accident statistics.

Today a divided six-lane freeway reaches from the Golden Gate Bridge to San Rafael, and four lanes, most of the distance divided, from San Rafael to Sonoma County and across the Black Point cutoff.

But even this improved transport route hasn't been able to keep up with the traffic. The Golden Gate Bridge is preparing to spend 2½ million dollars to provide four-lane traffic in the direction of the peak traffic. The Bay Area Rapid Transit District, which didn't even exist when the 1950s started, will have a definite plan within six months for presentation to the voters. There's still a question as to whether Marin will be in or out of the plan.

The proposed San Francisco-Tiburon Bridge became a bitter battle which lapsed into a temporary truce. Crowded Highway 101 promises a renewal long before the century is two-thirds gone.

The now modest county airport program, a thing which didn't even exist a decade ago, will be enlarged and expanded in the next 10 years. With it will come an increase in industrial development and the tourist trade, both aimed at bringing a wider tax base to Marin to stem the ever-increasing tax load on the property owners.

For 10 years we have battled over how to house our county government. It looks like the 1960s will see the problem solved.

Some progress has been made in consolidation of local governmental services, with cities and the county going together on assessing and tax collecting procedures. This trend will increase and speed up in the next 10 years, eliminating many of the artificial and overlapping boundaries which jig-saw our county.

Smog, about which we were twitted when we reported its dangers not many years ago, came to Marin and the rest of the Bay Area. Now we seek ways of controlling it.

Our schools, which have done a rather remarkable job in the county in keeping pace with our mushroom growth, will get no respite in the years ahead. Even the county's major high schools, which have increased from three in 1950 to seven today, with an eighth under construction, will have to be enlarged. Our junior college hasn't really felt the surge of new students—but it will. Perhaps so too will the North Bay State College, if we are successful in getting it established in the Novato area.

And while we have made great strides in each of these fields, we will soon need to take concrete action for importing water to the county, for providing a recreational area fronting on the Bay, for improving the county roads, for solving the bottleneck developing on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, for new city facilities in several of our cities, and for parking practically everywhere.

We have seen the demise of the ferryboat and of the passenger train to Eureka. The old Marin City is fast disappearing to be replaced by a new type of housing. The agricultural lands have begun to disappear as homes sprout in pastures, but nowhere's near as fast as they will in the next 10 years.

We will see our tidelands begin to fill in; perhaps you'll be able to drive out to the Marin Islands. Inverness and Stinson Beach will grow as tourist attractions, as Sausalito and Belvedere-Tiburon have in recent years.

We've had problems before and we'll have them in the future with juvenile delinquents, the elder citizens, the unfortunates, and the ill.

But we'll tackle these and other problems as we go along, planning for them as best we can and meeting them face to face when they get here. We have learned that regardless of the problems and the heartaches ahead, we are living in the best county in the best state in the best nation in the world — Marvelous Marin.

PLEDGES NOT REDEEMED

Did The Parties Keep Platform Promises?

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — The season of hope and giving is a good time to examine how the political parties followed up their 1956 convention platform promises, made so easily as they chose their candidates for President.

After three years of effort by a Republican administration and a Democratic-controlled Congress, most pledges are yet to be redeemed.

Congressional Quarterly examined the 1956 platforms, plank by plank, and then traced specific action — or inaction — in each field. Here is a summary of the highlights.

THE ONE clear-cut promise kept was that of statehood for Hawaii and Alaska. Both parties endorsed statehood. Alaska became the 49th state of the union in 1958 and Hawaii the 50th this year.

Both parties promised "full parity" for farmers, but the farmers' parity ration stood at 82 in 1957, 85 in 1958 and 81 for the first 11 months of 1959.

Parity is the ratio between prices paid by farmers and prices received by farmers for their agricultural products. A compromise conservation reserve program was passed and signed, fulfilling in part another promise made by both parties.

● NEITHER PARTY lived up to its pledge to provide federal aid to school construction. The Republican platform urged a five-year federal school construction program. Although the President asked for construction aid in 1957, he did not mention it in 1958 and, in 1959, he changed the request to one for federal support for local school bonds.

The Democratic platform also pledged "federal fiancing to assist states and local communities to build schools." But the House in 1959 killed a school construction bill. A Democratic-sponsored construction bill is now bottled up in the Democratic-controlled House Rules Committee.

● Both platforms contained general pledges to extend civil rights and eliminate discrimination. In 1957, Congress passed its first civil rights legislation in 75 years, with the vigorous support of President Eisenhower. Despite pressure for further civil rights legislation in 1959, the only action was extension for two years of the Civil Rights Commission, which was set up in the 1957 bill.

● THE DEMOCRATS' promise to labor was delivered in reverse. In 1956, the Democratic platform said "we unequivocally advocate repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act . . ." The labor reform bill passed this year included four provisions specifically strengthening the Taft-Hartley Act; a majority of Democrats voted for it.

The Republicans promised to "revise and improve" Taft-Hartley. They strongly supported the 1959 labor reform bill, which also contained a "bill of rights" for union members.

● BOTH PARTIES followed through on their pledges to continue foreign aid. The Democrats promised a "realistic reappraisal" of the foreign aid program.

Early in 1957, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee completed an exhaustive study of foreign aid. Among other things, it recommended a revolving fund for development loans, which was set up. However, effort to put the Development Loan Fund on a long-term basis met with resistance first in Congress and later in the administration and the DLF still must get year-to-year appropriations.

Congress and the administration have one more year in which to follow through on the many other pledges made in 1956.

For Highbrow New Year Fete, Try A Homemade Hangover

NEW YORK (AP) — Classless America will be divided into two classes tonight.

They will consist of people who intend going to a New Year's Eve party even if it kills them, and people who say, "I wouldn't be caught dead at a New Year's Eve party."

The second group is distinctly intellectual and highbrow. Its members dismiss as lowbrow and mentally childish anyone who enjoys anything as incredibly gauche and naive as a New Year's celebration. Your true highbrow would rather lose a front tooth than be found enjoying himself in public fun.

However, there are a number of constructive ways to spend New Year's Eve without imbibing yourself blind at a raffish and raucous party.

Here are a few tips:

If you have been postponing having your appendix taken out, tonight is the time to have it removed. There is no safer place on New Year's Eve than a good hospital. And your surgeon will thank you. You will have kept him from starting 1960 with a hangover.

Hold an old-fashioned taffy pull in your kitchen. By the time you scrape the sticky stuff off your hands, it will be after midnight.

Get out a pad and some pencils and begin figuring how you can pay your Christmas bills and still meet your income taxes. Before you know it you'll be worn and drawn — and it'll be dawn.

AT 9 P.M., sit down and start making a list of all the wonderful things that happened to you in 1959. At 9:05 p.m. take a glass of warm milk and a sleeping pill, and go to bed.

You and your wife each take a volume of an encyclopedia and take turns reading exciting passages aloud to each other.

Fill a picnic cooler full of cold beer and drink it as you lay stretched out all alone on the floor in front of your television set watching its program visits to public New Year's Eve revelries. Be sure to sneer throughout.

THIS IS HIGHBROW living at its best. You may wake up Friday with a hangover but, unlike all the guilty public lowbrows, you won't have to smuggle yours into the house.

To be a true-blue highbrow, your New Year's morning hangover has to be strictly homemade.

Quick Buck Is Fine Sample Of Marin Wild Life; There Are Others

Probably there is no more picturesque sample of Marin wild life than the quick buck, sporting and cavorting over our realtor-beloved landscape.

Can this be our ideal symbol of a better life for 1960?

Some don't think so. They regard our county as a place to spend money, not to make it. They will fight for peace at the first drop of a re-zoning hint.

At times, the view halloos of the quick buck hunters and the angry uproar of those who favor quiet is enough to bang one's ears off. So let us get off in a corner and rake together a morsel of miscellany.

THOSE OF US who mingle with Marin's public personages often get odd glimpses which we ordinarily keep out of the paper due to such causes as irrelevancy, the law of libel, and desire not to spoil our reportorial pitch with the victims.

So as a rule I would be much too discreet to report a small recent mishap to Mrs. Mary Summers, county planning directors.

An eager beaver if ever there was one (or should I say "beaveress"?), Mrs. Summers evidently got up in a big hurry the other morning. She may have been in a daze due to a late night meeting. Anyway, she showed up for her planning chores wearing mismatched shoes.

NOBODY WOULD have known had she not been so horrified, mortified and generally in a tizzy. Not that she had on one black shoe and one brown shoe; they were both brown, and of the same hue, and both had bows in front.

But anyone walking along behind, and able to keep this energetic lady in view, might have noticed that at the rear of one shoe there was a strap. At the rear of the other there wasn't. Ah, the shame and pity of it all!

Obviously a person has to be a professional planner fully to plumb the depths of humiliation when personal planning goes awry.

TAKE A LESS distressing tale. Just before the rains started, I noticed one noontime that Marin's district attorney, Bill Weissich, had stepped over to the sun dial just off Fourth street on the county building greensward and was fiddling with the thing.

The top isn't fastened solidly and due to mischief-makers earthquakes, and perhaps contraction and expansion from heat and cold, the thing turns back and forth a trifle.

This can throw it off as much as an hour, which Weissich, as a man of method deplores. So he continually sets it right, and those busy people on the benches no doubt profit by being able to maintain punctuality. Weissich can see only one way out of this chore which is that sometime he must remember to buy some chewing gum and anchor the dad-blamed thing down.

THERE COULD BE no better moment than this to mention a news tip recently volunteered by Supervisor William D. Fusselman, who qualifies as a publicity expert in my opinion.

Fusselman heard that a piece I wrote about a cat attracted some notice from readers. This did not surprise him, but he passed on an observation that if you really want to kick up a fuss, just print something having to do with mistreatment of dogs. Remember that old song about "Ya gotta quit kickin' my dog around"?

Give a dog a hard time and you're in for one yourself, in other words.

SPACE IS RUNNING out and maybe your patience too. But let one thing about these random observations be stressed. They may be minor, but they're all strictly Marin County products. That should qualify them for attention by my fine employer (till contrary notice) the I-J.

Let a news item come to my notice and I apply one infallible test as a means of keeping solid with the bosses. I tell myself:

Appreciation For Paperboy's Service

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

For more than 25 years we have been receiving the Independent and for several months the paper has been delivered by Wayne Oare. (I called your office today to learn his name).

I recall carriers in the past who used to call to make collections and I had considered paying off in pennies and tossing them around in the yard or maybe on the top of the porch where I sometimes found my paper! That, however, is the exception and not the rule!

For several months we've had Wayne Oare on our route and he's perfect! We have the kind of front yard filled with shrubbery and vines where he could play "hide and seek" with me. Instead, he delivers my paper up a short flight of stairs and to my desk. Usually, he even picks up a San Francisco evening paper which we also read — more than often from the sidewalk in front of the office — and brings it, too!

When the I-J advises that it's collection time for the news-boys, I'm always glad to see him! He's a lad who is getting good business training for the time when he has helped work his way through school and is ready for a more important position. He will be a success in whatever he attempts.

Having been a news-boy myself, more years ago than I like to remember, I have to take this opportunity to express my appreciation for the kind of service this youngster affords his customers!

Myron Cohen tells about a junior clerk in a silk house who tip-toed into his boss' office and announced, "There's a beautiful girl outside asking to see you." "Show her in," beamed the boss — but after she had left, the junior clerk was hastily recalled.

"How dare you tell me that old crow you sent in was a beautiful girl?" he exploded. "I'm sorry," apologized the clerk, "but it occurred to me that she just possibly might have been your wife."

"Damn it all," mourned the boss, "she is!"

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Congress Will Face Demands For Tighter Control On Firearms

Before the next session of Congress is far along, there will be a strong demand by law enforcement agencies and public opinion generally to tighten control over the private possession of firearms.

Attention will be focused on how teen-age gangs, as well as professional criminals, can get their hands on all kinds of lethal weapons.

Congress will need to take care, I think, not to pass indiscriminately a lot of restrictions which either cannot be enforced or which can possibly do more harm than good.

I AM NOT suggesting that no new legislation is in order. There are two sides to this matter and neither should be lightly dismissed. They present a dilemma which must be resolved prudently.

There is the need to protect people from illicit or incompetent use of firearms and there is the need to preserve the citizen's right to protect himself and to use weapons responsibly for recreation.

This points out the basic difference in the two viewpoints which bear upon the regulation of firearms among those who stress the danger in widespread ownership of such weapons and those who see the danger in the lack of a well-armed citizenry trained in their proper use.

THE INCREASE in juvenile violence has greatly strengthened the demand for stricter general supervision of the ownership of lethal weapons.

New York Supreme Court Justice John E. Cone, who heads a committee to ban teen-age weapons, told a Senate Judiciary investigation of juvenile delinquency that nearly 700 youths aged 16 through 20 had been arrested in New York City in 1958 for possessing dangerous weapons, an increase of almost 700 per cent since 1940.

A survey of 133 distributors of switchblades showed that 75 per cent of their mail orders come from juveniles under 20; more than two-fifths of the group were between the ages of 11 and 15.

Guns are widely advertised for shipment to individual purchasers in periodicals which appeal to teen-agers. The prices are often within the reach of their pocketbooks. Although firearms are barred from the U.S. mails, orders for them may be transmitted by mail.

THE NATIONAL Rifle Association and various sportsmen's organization argue that over-restrictive laws on the ownership of firearms make it harder for law-abiding persons to defend themselves and deprive the nation of valuable skills.

But the National Rifle Association proposes one piece of legislation which might usefully be carried further. It favors a law which is now in effect in a dozen streets and which requires that the applicant for a hunter's license pass a course in safe gun handling before he can legally possess a hunting weapon.

A Look-Ahead At What's Likely In Marin's Restaurant Circles

Accompanied by the blare of noisemakers and streams of serpentine, 1959 will secede from the calendar tonight and mark the close of a year as active in the dining and night spots of Marin as we have seen since this column was begun.

Whether it's because Marin residents or outside visitors have become more conscious of increased opportunities for choice wining and dining would be hard to say. Perhaps it is just a natural result of the county's growth in population.

Whatever the underlying cause, many restaurateurs have been alternately encouraged and distracted by the unrhythmetic pulses of animation which make their field an uncertain one at best—in Marin, especially unpredictable.

In spite of this we'll stick out our necks and make certain predictions for 1960—little ones, mostly, based on the trends of 1959 and scraps from our wandering.

MANY THERE are who say Marin already has too many restaurants. So? We'll forecast at least four brand new ones during the next 12 months. Partially offsetting this, one, maybe two of the present crop will drop out of the running. Three, possibly four will change ownership. Net gain will be two or three.

Look for Alexis Merab (he of the swank Tangier on San Francisco's Nob Hill) to come up with the opening of an equally swank and luscious dinery on Wood Island, Greenbrae, about the middle or afternoon of the year. No longshot prediction, this. He's completed a parking area for 65 cars. Next in line is the chateau itself, but Alexis is a fussy person who won't be satisfied with mediocrity.

Ondine, of course, opens up tomorrow night about two feet higher and some 50 feet to windward. But the quarters below are still incomplete and may remain so for another three or four months. This is the site of a less formal and less expensive eatery which remains nameless at the moment, though many suggestions have been submitted. Try your luck at it. You may be the lucky winner and also hasten completion if Messrs. Gudekunst, Martinez, Jordin, et al, can become properly enthused over the title.

SOMETIME soon, Sabella's will start promoting its lunch trade, though what needs promoting about it is beyond me. Low calory, high protein foods will be emphasized for slim waistlines (you mean I've been adding these extra pounds with fish?) which are likely to appeal to the overnourished.

Return of Bermuda Palms to full restaurant status? Not likely! Whitey Litchfield has had his fill of it. He prefers conventions and parties from 30 on up with fewer headaches and predetermined profits. The Flamingo ballroom would make a swell spot for a grand scale night club with floor shows and name artists, but it would take a man well versed in show biz to make it pay off which Whitey agrees he is not.

Likeliest place to gather momentum is the Wye Club—slow, maybe, but solid. Mindful of his predecessors' failures to keep in black ink, Paul Di Pietro will play it cautious and not go overboard. We forecast a gradual expansion of the menu from hofbrau upward. Two good chefs here to help him are Tex Trent and Les Johnston.

It's a sure bet that Rickey's or Bob's of Marin or both will blazen the style-show wagon in spring and summer. Just a hunch: There's a possibility Bob's may go for a dance orchestra regularly on weekends, but then we thought this might take place in 1959 and it didn't.

LITTLE SWEDEN in Marin—a good chance something will happen here for better or for worse. Inga Lindholm talks of selling her Novato ranch and and adding more Little Swedens to her chain. She's a grand person, but to my mind, in doing this, it will deprive the Novato spot on the hill of something important without her personal touch and attention.

Look for a change in menu at Cloud 5, Novato. Christine Bolton's aunt Annie Hessenmueller arrives from Munich, Germany in January, and with her cooking talents enlisted it's safe to say the bill of fare will turn Deutsch uber alles. Then how about some steins for atmosphere and calling it Die Fuente Wolke? Or something?

ADDLIKELIES: A wine license for El Paseo, Mill Valley . . . Expansion or a new location for La Petite Auberge, San Rafael . . . A Rolls-Royce limousine for Fleur d'Lys, San Anselmo . . . A new tropical drink for Tiburon Tommie . . . Still another Tiburon business for Kirby Atterbury (no, probably not until 1961, maybe) . . . Completion of Sam Zakessian's dining room—Zack's, Sausalito . . . Something on the Sausalito sand spit besides sightseers.

Lawyer Sends New Chessman Appeal To Supreme Court

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Condemned author Caryl Chessman's attorney is asking the U. S. Supreme Court to set aside its Dec. 14 ruling denying Chessman a rehearing.

Chessman, 38, has been dodging the gas chamber at San Quentin Prison since his 1948 conviction for a series of sex crimes and kidnaping. His execution date is set for Feb. 19.

Atty. A. L. Wirin of the American Civil Liberties Union said he forwarded a petition to the Supreme Court yesterday asking that it set aside the Dec. 14 ruling because the court did not explain its reasons for turning down Chessman.

Cafe Owner Sued Over Fight, Arrest

A Corte Madera resident is suing for $75,000 damages against Sam Vella and his employees, charging he was beaten and falsely arrested last month.

Keith J. Thomson of Mariner's Cove in Corte Madera filed the suit in Marin Superior Court against Vella, who owns Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon.

Thomson alleges he was beaten by Denny Miller and Gene Burke, employees of Vella, and several others. Thomson says he was charged with assault and battery, then tried for disturbing the peace but was found innocent.

Thomas complains he suffered a brain concussion, fractured nose, other physical injuries, and humiliation and degradation by being arrested and tried.

Execution Date Set For Officer's Slayer

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—James E. Hooton, 27-year-old slayer of a policeman, yesterday was sentenced to death in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber March 18.

Superior Court Judge Leroy Dawson pronounced sentence after he received word that the state Supreme Court had upheld Hooten's first degree murder conviction by a jury Jan. 14.

IT WAS BAD DAY FOR FORDS IN BIRMINGHAM

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—There were just too many Fords for police the other day.

Isaac Ford, 22, was driving a Ford belong to his Ford dealer employer when he collided with another Ford.

Escapee Sent To Isolation

Rapist Anthony J. Garrity, 28-year-old San Quentin convict who Sunday evaded prison guards for two hours and 45 minutes during a futile escape attempt, must serve 29 days in solation for his trouble.

The prison disciplinary committee levelel the penalty and decided not to refer Garrity to the Marin County district attorney for prosecution. Instead, he was referred to the prison psychiatrist.

The felon, who once escaped from the San Francisco County Jail in San Bruno, hid out in the prison late Saturday night after fashioning a dummy out of prison dungarees, towels and a tin can and placing it in his cell. He was found in a classroom.

Garrity is serving two concurrent terms of one-to-20 years from San Francisco for attemped rape and escape.

Hub City Chamber Directors To Elect

Installation ceremonies will take place at a 7 p.m. dinner meeting Jan. 14 at the Buon Gusto Villa in Fairfax.

Fred F. Enemark, president of the Marin County Industrial Development Foundation, and Douglas J. Flautt, newly appointed San Anselmo city administrator, will be principal speakers, said George G. Washburn, chamber secretary.

A slate of proposed officers is being prepared by a three-man nominations committee, Mozart Kaufman, Sydney Braverman and Marin Christensen.

Two Complete Work At San Francisco U.

Two Marin County residents, Ray Eubanks of Larkspur and A. F. Lebel of Alto, have received certificates of completion for work at the University of San Francisco's Labor-Management School.

The school, which is nationally known for its courses in the labor-management field, has Rev. Andrew C. Boss, S.J., as its director.

Here's Marin Movie Fare For Weekend

By LESLIE DARD

The Holiday weekend film fare:

RAFAEL THEATRE

Filmed in Monterey and Carmel, "A Summer Place" (Technicolor) — opening Sunday in San Rafael—is about six people involved in adult and adolescent passions:

Richard Egan, who returns to an exclusive resort with Constance Ford, his wife, and there meets his old flame, Dorothy McGuire, and her husband, Arthur Kennedy. Also involved are Egan's daughter (Sandra Dee) and Miss McGuire's son (Troy Donohue).

The film deals with divorce, second marriages and the problem of young love which has gone "too far."

TAMAPAIS AND SEQUOIA THEATERS

"Journey to the Center of the Earth" (color, CinemaScope) is a tongue-in-cheek spoof of the Jules Verne story. It has been held over at the San Anselmo theater, and opens on the Mill Valley screen Sunday.

James Mason portrays a scientist whose protege is Pat Boone. Along with beauteous Arlene Dahl, they head for a crater in Iceland and eventually the center of the earth.

Along the way, they encounter many striking and imaginative scenes. And they meet many dangerous forms of life. Enough to make a 12-part Saturday afternoon cliff-hanging serial.

MARIN THEATER

"Happy Anniversary" is a frequently hilarious farce. It stars David Niven and Mitzi Gaynor and is now showing in Sausalito.

It's about a city couple celebrating their 13th anniversary with her parents. Niven, too full of good cheer, gives them the lowdown on what went on before their wedding.

Before the dust settles, Mitzi has locked herself in the bedroom, the in-laws are shocked and the teen-age daughter is telling a TV audience all about her parents' "indiscretions."

The film pokes fun at in-laws, TV, brats, progressive schools, bartenders, expense account ormances and what have you. Not for children.

NOVATO THEATER

"Gidget" (CinemaScope, color) is a charming, unpretentious little film aimed at youthful audiences. It deals, compassionately and humorously, with the growing pains of young people who are neither criminal nor delinquent.

Sandra Dee stars as "Gidget" — a contraction of girl and midget — who's adopted as a mascot by the Malibu Beach surfboard set. Cliff Robertson plays the leader of the beach bums, a carefree, romantic figure whose easy existence appeals to the local lads. Jimmy Darren — currently a singing star—appears as one of the latter, a rich enough youngster who worships Robertson and decides to follow his way of life.

"Gidget" solves its problems neatly and nicely, it pokes no fun at youth or youthful problems. The sons are diverting (sung by the Four Preps), the photography more than adequate, especially in the surfboard sequences.

The co-feature is "Senior Prom," which offers Louis Prima and Keely Smith, two show business stars, in action.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Two selected revivals are current at the peninsula playbox.

"Teahouse of the August Moon," a comedy starring Marlon Brando and Glenn Ford (in color), one of the more pleasant Hollywood offerings of recent years, and "Green Fire," a film made by Grace Kelly just before she hit the big time. Her co-stars are Stewart Granger and the late Paul Douglas.

In the main feature, Ford plays a lieutenant who's "guided" by the shrewd Sakini (Brando) during the Okinawan occupation. Sakini's deals are both charming and funny.

LARK THEATRE

"Wild Strawberries" has been held over in Larkspur.

Written and directed by Ingmar Bergman, this brilliant Swedish film stars Victor Sjostrom as a distinguished doctor who, in the course of a day, experiences his ressurection as a human being.

Bergman uses the language of dream and symbol to bring about the change in this eminent but cold—man.

The entire tale is told with sometimes chilling clarity, sometimes beautiful warmth, and the help of lovely Ingrid Thulin as the daughter-in-law and Gunnar Bjornstrand as the son.

Highly recommended.

MARIN MOTOR MOVIES

Hope Lange, whose heart is broken several times before she finds true love;

Suzy Parker, who tumbles to her death after she has been cruelly used by Louis Jourdan;

Diane Baker, a little innocent who is misled by a playboy but manages to find a man who will love her in spite of her past.

FAIRFAX THEATER

"It Started with a Kiss" (color, CinemaScope) is a convention-flouting romantic comedy starring Glenn Ford and Debbie Reynolds.

Ford and Debby portray impetuous lovers who wed after knowing each other only a day because the groom must return to his base in Spain. When she finally joins him it is with serious doubts.

Her solution: a platonic relationship until she's sure about him.

THE PARENTS' CORNER

Guidance Counsellor

It's Also Time For An Inventory On Your Life With Your Children

I'm not asking about the money you made, the new house you bought, or your new car. I am asking about your life with your children. Did you make progress with them in ways that really matter?

Ask yourself these questions: Is love the strongest emotion in my family? Are my youngsters secure in the knowledge that I will always be on their side? Do they know my love will not change, no matter what they do? Can they take punishment from me in constructive ways, because they know I love them?

If you've strengthened the ties of love in your family this year, be thankful. Some other parents haven't been as lucky.

Have I given clear guidance and good discipline? Have I helped them understand the difference between right and wrong? Have I set up clear rules for them to follow which have been enforced consistently? Unless they have consistent guidance they'll be confused. They may develop warped standards, or no standards at all.

Have I used the mildest punishments which will teach them the needed lessons? Heavy-handed punishment does more harm than good.

Have I given my children reasonable freedom? Freedom is especially important with the older ones. Have I tried to accept the fact that they are growing up? Have I avoided the temptation to keep them tied by my apron strings?

There are other questions, of course, but I've listed the most important.

I know you've had your troubles in 1959. All parents did. But if you can answer most of the questions with an honest "yes," you've done well. This has been a good year in your family.

A happy 1960 to you!

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Dec. 31, the last day of the year 1959. This is New Year's Eve.

The morning star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1869, French painter Henri Matisse was born.

In 1380, General Marshall was born.

A thought for today: General George Marshall wrote: "If man does find the solution for world peace it will be the most revolutionary reversal of his record we have ever known."

Sutro Library Given Letters By Marinite

Jean Clayton of 145 Cascade drive in Mill Valley has donated some letters written in the 1830s in the Illinois-Wisconsin frontier area to the Sutro Library in San Francisco.

The letters, written by W. J. Woods and his wife, Catherine, urged friends to come West to take up lands in a country safe from the Indians after the defeat of the Sac and Fox tribes in the Blackhawk War.

Fewer Acres In Marin Hit By Fire In '59

Only 583 acres of grass and brush lands were fire-blackened in the unincorporated areas of Marin this year, County Fire Chief Charles R. Reilley reported today — 1,154 fewer acres than were scorched in the much wetter year of 1958.

Reilley praised the ability of fire departments throughout the county and fire-conscious Marin residents for nipping many potential conflagrations in the bud.

NO MAJOR FIRES

With a drought that extended from March through December, Marin escaped without any major brush or forest fires.

"We were very lucky," said Reilley, "but in the main, we must give credit where credit is due. It goes to the fire departments and to the people of the county who were quick to report fires and who became terrifically conscious of the fire hazard as the dry season wore on."

But the fire chief warned Marinites not to relax their vigilance even though the "fire season" was officially ended Dec. 24. He listed six rules that continue in effect even though open fires are now permitted in unincorporated areas.

LIST OF RULES

1. No burning near buildings, fences or other inflammable structures.
2. Hose must be attached to faucet in area of burning.
3. No burning on windy days.
4. All open fires must be out by 5 p.m.—none permitted after dark.
5. Open fires must never be left unattended.
6. Permits are still required for extensive burning involving trees and debris by contractors and large brush piles by private residents.

Bullet Pierces Wall Of House

A .22 caliber bullet pierced the wall of a Santa Venetia home and dropped into the bathroom adjoining the master bedroom, the owner reported to the sheriff Tuesday.

Gordon Wallace, 50, of 150 Holmes avenue called the sheriff after he found the bullet on the bathroom floor.

Mrs. Wallace said she had heard a noise during the day and checked to see if any windows had been broken. Finding none, she thought nothing more about it. When her husband came home, he found the bullet and a hole in the wall about five feet from the ground.

PILE RISES FOR BURNING OF GREENS

Rev. Tod W. Ewald of Holy Innocents' Episcopal Church in Corte Madera tosses another discarded Christmas tree to Daniel Karpa, 13, of 154 Crescent road, Corte Madera, to put on pile of trees in traffic island in front of the church. The trees will be burned on the night of Jan. 6 after Epiphany services at the church to close the Christmas season.

Teacher Internship Proposal Urged

SAN DIEGO (AP) — One-year internship with pay for public school teacher candidates is proposed by the California State Federation of Teachers.

The internship would replace a final year in college under the plan proposed by the federation at its annual convention, concluded Tuesday.

Candidates would then be required to pass state examinations before being awarded full teaching credentials.

BREAK-IN JUST ONE BIG BUST FOR BURGLAR

TOKYO (AP)—Hideo Katsumata, 25, was arrested because, police said, he broke into the Tokyo District Court building, became annoyed when he found nothing worth taking and set fire to all documents in sight.

Remorseful, he put the fire out and walked out of the building into the arms of alerted police.

Marin's Taxable Sales Dip In Third Quarter

Taxable sales in the unincorporated portion of Marin County in the third quarter of 1959 dropped below those for the same period a year ago, but all except two of the incorporated cities realized an increase this year.

Local sales tax revenues for third quarter activity recently distributed by the state Board of Equalization amounted to $91,956 to Marin County, compared with $98,977 for the same period in 1958.

Sales tax revenue collected by the state and redistributed to Marin County and its nine cities totaled $409,786—$33,478 more than for the same period last year.

Belvedere, $1,884, up $601; Corte Madera, $18,177, up $7,023; Fairfax, $11,628, up $1,795; Mill Valley, $35,054, up $5,480; San Anselmo, $23,971, up $1,302; San Rafael, $189,492, up $21,200, and Sausalito, $25,454, up $3,296.

Showing slight drops in retail activity were Larkspur, which received $11,425 for the just-ended quarter—a drop of only $25 from the same period last year, and Ross, with a return of $919, a drop of $174.

Judge Sentences 4 Drunk Drivers

One drunken driver drew 10 days in jail plus a fine, while three others got off with probation and fines in Marin Municipal Court.

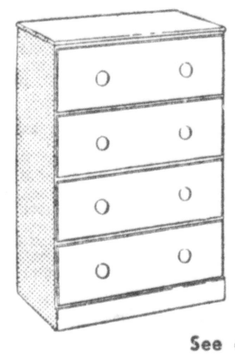

Vernon Dale Gilmore, 48, of Sacramento must serve 10 days in jail and pay a $250 fine for his second offense. Judge Harold J. Haley sentenced Gilmore for driving while intoxicated on Highway 101 last Sunday. He had a prior conviction in Sacramento in February, 1952.

Thomas Chris Faulk, 30, of 144 Hilldale drive, San Anselmo, lost his license for 30 days and must pay a $200 fine. He is on probation for 10 months. He was arrested on Sir Francis Drake boulevard on Dec. 20.

Walter Edwards Wallace, 54, of 79 Frustuck avenue, Fairfax, drew one year probation and a $200 fine. He was arrested by California Highway patrolmen on Christmas Eve.

W. J. Ramsey, 29, of Daly City, also got one year probation and a $200 fine. He was arrested on Highway 101 on Dec. 22.

He's Sam Chapman, the kid from Tiburon who won all-American honors as a hard-running back at the University of California and then went on to become a slugging outfielder in the major leagues. Independent-Journal sports editor Jim Gilmartin will tell the Sam Chapman story in Saturday's Marin Magazine. An added feature will be some photographs from Sam's scrapbook.

THE PARENTS' CORNER

Guidance Counsellor

It's Also Time For An Inventory On Your Life With Your Children

This is inventory time. How did you do in 1959?

I'm not asking about the money you made, the new house you bought, or your new car. I am asking about your life with your children. Did you make progress with them in ways that really matter?

Ask yourself these questions: Is love the strongest emotion in my family? Are my youngsters secure in the knowledge that I will always be on their side? Do they know my love will not change, no matter what they do? Can they take punishment from me in constructive ways, because they know I love them?

If you've strengthened the ties of love in your family this year, be thankful. Some other parents haven't been as lucky.

Have I given clear guidance and good discipline? Have I helped them understand the difference between right and wrong? Have I set up clear rules for them to follow which have been enforced consistently? Unless they have consistent guidance they'll be confused. They may develop warped standards, or no standards at all.

Have I used the mildest punishments which will teach them the needed lessons? Heavy-handed punishment does more harm than good.

Have I given my children reasonable freedom? Freedom is especially important with the older ones. Have I tried to accept the fact that they are growing up? Have I avoided the temptation to keep them tied by my apron strings?

There are other questions, of course, but I've listed the most important.

I know you've had your troubles in 1959. All parents did. But if you can answer most of the questions with an honest "yes," you've done well. This has been a good year in your family.

A happy 1960 to you!

Today is Thursday, Dec. 31, the last day of the year 1959. This is New Year's Eve.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1869, French painter Henri Matisse was born.

In 1380, General Marshall was born.

In 1923, Eddie Cantor opened in "Kid Boots," a smash musical hit in New York.

A thought for today: General George Marshall wrote: "If man does find the solution for world peace it will be the most revolutionary reversal of his record we have ever known."

Sutro Library Given Letters By Marinite

Jean Clayton of 145 Cascade drive in Mill Valley has donated some letters written in the 1830s in the Illinois-Wisconsin frontier area to the Sutro Library in San Francisco.

The letters, written by W. J. Woods and his wife, Catherine, urged friends to come West to take up lands in a country safe from the Indians after the defeat of the Sac and Fox tribes in the Blackhawk War.

Fewer Acres In Marin Hit By Fire In '59

Only 583 acres of grass and brush lands were fire-blackened in the unincorporated areas of Marin this year, County Fire Chief Charles R. Reilley reported today — 1,154 fewer acres than were scorched in the much wetter year of 1958.

Reilley praised the ability of fire departments throughout the county and fire-conscious Marin residents for nipping many potential conflagrations in the bud.

NO MAJOR FIRES

With a drought that extended from March through December, Marin escaped without any major brush or forest fires.

"We were very lucky," said Reilley, "but in the main, we must give credit where credit is due. It goes to the fire departments and to the people of the county who were quick to report fires and who became terrifically conscious of the fire hazard as the dry season wore on."

But the fire chief warned Marinites not to relax their vigilance even though the "fire season" was officially ended Dec. 24. He listed six rules that continue in effect even though open fires are now permitted in unincorporated areas.

LIST OF RULES

1. No burning near buildings, fences or other inflammable structures.
2. Hose must be attached to faucet in area of burning.
3. No burning on windy days.
4. All open fires must be out by 5 p.m.—none permitted after dark.
5. Open fires must never be left unattended.
6. Permits are still required for extensive burning involving trees and debris by contractors and large brush piles by private residents.

Bullet Pierces Wall Of House

A .22 caliber bullet pierced the wall of a Santa Venetia home and dropped into the bathroom adjoining the master bedroom, the owner reported to the sheriff Tuesday.

Gordon Wallace, 50, of 150 Holmes avenue called the sheriff after he found the bullet on the bathroom floor.

Mrs. Wallace said she had heard a noise during the day and checked to see if any windows had been broken. Finding none, she thought nothing more about it. When her husband came home, he found the bullet and a hole in the wall about five feet from the ground.

PILE RISES FOR BURNING OF GREENS

Rev. Tod W. Ewald of Holy Innocents' Episcopal Church in Corte Madera tosses another discarded Christmas tree to Daniel Karpa, 13, of 154 Crescent road, Corte Madera, to put on pile of trees in traffic island in front of the church. The trees will be burned on the night of Jan. 6 after Epiphany services at the church to close the Christmas season.

Teacher Internship Proposal Urged

SAN DIEGO (AP) — One-year internship with pay for public school teacher candidates is proposed by the California State Federation of Teachers.

The internship would replace a final year in college under the plan proposed by the federation at its annual convention, concluded Tuesday.

Candidates would then be required to pass state examinations before being awarded full teaching credentials.

BREAK-IN JUST ONE BIG BUST FOR BURGLAR

TOKYO (AP)—Hideo Katsumata, 25, was arrested because, police said, he broke into the Tokyo District Court building, became annoyed when he found nothing worth taking and set fire to all documents in sight.

Remorseful, he put the fire out and walked out of the building into the arms of alerted police.

Marin's Taxable Sales Dip In Third Quarter

Taxable sales in the unincorporated portion of Marin County in the third quarter of 1959 dropped below those for the same period a year ago, but all except two of the incorporated cities realized an increase this year.

Local sales tax revenues for third quarter activity recently distributed by the state Board of Equalization amounted to $91,956 to Marin County, compared with $98,977 for the same period in 1958.

Sales tax revenue collected by the state and redistributed to Marin County and its nine cities totaled $409,786—$33,478 more than for the same period last year.

Belvedere, $1,884, up $601; Corte Madera, $18,177, up $7,023; Fairfax, $11,628, up $1,795; Mill Valley, $35,054, up $5,480; San Anselmo, $23,971, up $1,302; San Rafael, $189,492, up $21,200, and Sausalito, $25,454, up $3,296.

Showing slight drops in retail activity were Larkspur, which received $11,425 for the just-ended quarter—a drop of only $25 from the same period last year, and Ross, with a return of $919, a drop of $174.

Judge Sentences 4 Drunk Drivers

One drunken driver drew 10 days in jail plus a fine, while three others got off with probation and fines in Marin Municipal Court.

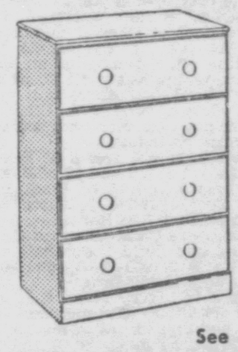

Vernon Dale Gilmore, 48, of Sacramento must serve 10 days in jail and pay a $250 fine for his second offense. Judge Harold J. Haley sentenced Gilmore for driving while intoxicated on Highway 101 last Sunday. He had a prior conviction in Sacramento in February, 1952.

Thomas Chris Faulk, 30, of 144 Hilldale drive, San Anselmo, lost his license for 30 days and must pay a $200 fine. He is on probation for 10 months. He was arrested on Sir Francis Drake boulevard on Dec. 20.

Walter Edwards Wallace, 54, of 79 Frustuck avenue, Fairfax, drew one year probation and a $200 fine. He was arrested by California Highway patrolmen on Christmas Eve.

W. J. Ramsey, 29, of Daly City, also got one year probation and a $200 fine. He was arrested on Highway 101 on Dec. 22.

A WEEK OF GOOD READING

PROFILE OF THE WEEK—Unique among America's sports heroes is a small group which succeeded in reaching the top in both college football and professional baseball. Marin County can claim one of the few. He's Sam Chapman, the kid from Tiburon who won all-American honors as a hard-running back at the University of California and then went on to become a slugging outfielder in the major leagues. Independent-Journal sports editor Jim Gilmartin will tell the Sam Chapman story in Saturday's Marin Magazine. An added feature will be some photographs from Sam's scrapbook.

ONE OF A SERIES — Each week an Independent-Journal staff writer explores the character, achievements and human side of one of Marin's outstanding personalities — some of whom are all too little known by their neighbors.

GOOD THING HE DIDN'T WINK AT HER

HAVANA (AP)—Manuel Ramos Campos told police a woman next to him in a movie yawned. He yawned.

Then in the lobby she yawned. He yawned.

Later he stopped at a red light and in the next car she yawned. He yawned.

Her husband yanked Ramos out and beat him up.

Audubon Society Delays Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Marin Audubon Society has been postponed until Jan. 8 at 8 p.m. in Room 40 of the Chemistry Building at the College of Marin.

Willis Pelletier, geology instructor at College of Marin, will speak on "The Geology of Sausalito Peninsula" at the meeting. A movie, "Sierra Snow," will also be shown.

The meeting which will be held in conjunction with the Marin Nature Group is open to the public at no charge.

Bay Area audubon groups will meet at Inverness store at 8 p.m. on Sunday for the Christmas bird census.

An Audubon Society trip to Rancho Laguna will leave Jan. 9 at 9 p.m. from Point Reyes Station near the post office. Stan Picher will lead the expedition. The Marin Nature Group is invited to join the field trip said Verna W. Dunshee, publicity chairman.

Investment Series Will Start Monday

Beginning his twenty-fifth consecutive series of lectures and discussions on investments, Charles C. Clarke, of Kentfield, partner in a San Francisco investment banking and brokerage firm, will give his initial talk Monday, at 7:30 p.m. at the College of Marin.

As part of the adult education program of the college, the series consists of 10 meetings on successive Monday evenings. No registration in advance is necessary.

Educator Says TV Can Teach Kids Hardness

Paul Witty, a Northwestern University professor and reading expert, said his 10-year study of the TV habits of Chicago school children indicated television is capable of damaging the minds and morals of American youngsters.

ACCEPT VIOLENCE

Children who watch too many westerns and crime shows "can gradually come to accept violence, hate and destruction as almost normal ways of life," Witty said.

But television also has its brighter side, he said.

He said his study showed that TV increased children's reading and vocabularies and cut the sale of comic books, but did not lower their school grades or cut into outdoor play or hobby time.

OTHER FINDINGS

Witty said his research also showed that:

1. Children now spend an average of 21 hours weekly before the TV set—about as much as when the first sets were introduced. Their parents watch 20.5 hours a week, but high school students watch only 12.3 hours and teachers 11 hours.

2. Ten years ago the favorites were "Howdy Doody," "Hopalong Cassidy" and "The Lone Ranger." Now the toddlers prefer "77 Sunset Strip," "Maverick" and "Huckleberry Hound."

3. Television can become a negative influence only if his parents "allow it to become and remain a problem."

Novato High Lists Honors

Susan Obee, Danelle Smith and Dave Williams led 115 Novato High School students with 28 points apiece for the second grade period honor roll, it was announced today by Robert J. McKeay, principal.

To make the honor roll, a student must have a B average in all subjects, no grades less than C, and be taking at least six subjects. An A is counted as four points, a B three points and a C two points.

Slayer Of Two In Prison Loses Plea For Parole

The California Adult Authority has closed the door on parole for at least three years for a man convicted nearly 14 years ago of a double slaying in San Quentin Prison.

The authority, meeting at Folsom Prison, turned down the parole plea of Henry Leyvas and ruled it would not be considered again for three years.

Leyvas was convicted of the second degree murders of Antonio De Leon and Harry Flores during a riot of convict mess boys in San Quentin on the night of Dec. 14, 1945.

It was not his first brush with the law.

In February, 1943, Layvas, then a youth, was convicted of first degree murder in Los Angeles. But in October of the following year, the appellate court reversed the conviction and he left San Quentin a free man.

In August, 1945, he was back in the prison for first degree robbery in Los Angeles. It was during that term that he committed the two killings.

He was once paroled, in September, 1955, but was returned to Folsom for violating the conditions of his parole.

Fire Code Reviewed By Novato District

A review of the Board of Fire Underwriters' fire prevention code was made this week by the Novato Fire District board.

The code, with additions and revisions, is expected to be adopted at the district board's next meeting, Chief George J. Cavallero said.

The board approved specifications for a new 750-gallon triple combination pumper-tanker truck.

Enemark To Speak

Fred F. Enemark, executive vice president and manager of the Marin Savings and Loan Assn. and president of the Marin Industrial Development Foundation, will speak on "The Money Situation" at the breakfast meeting of the Marin County Real Estate Board on Tuesday at 8 a.m. at King Cotton restaurant in San Rafael.

Tam High Student Becomes Licensed Air Pilot At 16

Harry W. Herr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Herr of 421 Rose avenue, Mill Valley, completed his requirements for a student pilot certificate with the flights made at the Commodore base in Sausalito.

Young Herr, who began his flying instruction last summer under A. J. Crook of Seid Aviation Corp., said today his father encouraged him to take the training, "to improve my driving ability.

"It really has helped, too," said the young pilot. "An airplane requires all the alertness and attention you have, and I've transferred that to driving."

Partner Buying Into Liquor Store

Harold P. Hutton Jr. of 24 Camino Bueno drive, Ross is purchasing for $10,000 the partnership interest of Mrs. Elsie J. Rodrigues in the Old Original Fourth Street Liquor Store at 703 Fourth street, San Rafael, it was announced today.

Hutton, former operator of a gasoline service station, is making the payment against license, furniture and fixtures but not stock, he said. The deal is to be completed about the first of the year. Like Mrs. Rodriques, Hutton will be associated as partner with Okley Maynard Pistole.

No change in conduct of the business is contemplated, Hutton said.

The popular group counseling course, offered for the third consecutive year under the tutelage of Glen Dale Hofstetter, is for adults desiring a better understanding of psychology, themselves and other people. It stresses abilities, attitudes, values, interests and personality.

Twelve psychological tests will be given in class and interpreted by Hofstetter in private interviews. The three-hour classes will be held Thursdays at 7 p.m. in Room 90 of Olney Hall.

The art lecture series, a special new feature, will bring four well-known artists to the college on Jan. 8, 15, 22 and 29.

FIRST LECTURER

First lecturer will be Gurdon Woods, director of the California School of Fine Arts. Subsequent speakers will be Claude Steller, professor of architecture at the University of California; Ralph DuCasse, landscape artist, and Ernst Mundt, director of the visual arts division at San Francisco State College.

Registration fee for the art series is $2. All lectures will start at 8 p.m. in the college art gallery.

A folk music workshop and courses in comparative religion and creative drama for youth leaders also will be offered for the first time.

GOOD THING HE DIDN'T WINK AT HER

HAVANA (AP)—Manuel Ramos Campos told police a woman next to him in a movie yawned. He yawned.

Then in the lobby she yawned. He yawned.

Later he stopped at a red light and in the next car she yawned. He yawned.

Her husband yanked Ramos out and beat him up.

The husband, Abelardo Mendez Mora, told police: "I didn't like the way he was yawning at my wife."

Slayer Of Two In Prison Loses Plea For Parole

The California Adult Authority has closed the door on parole for at least three years for a man convicted nearly 14 years ago of a double slaying in San Quentin Prison.

The authority, meeting at Folsom Prison, turned down the parole plea of Henry Leyvas and ruled it would not be considered again for three years.

Leyvas was convicted of the second degree murders of Antonio De Leon and Harry Flores during a riot of convict mess boys in San Quentin on the night of Dec. 14, 1945.

It was not his first brush with the law.

In February, 1943, Layvas, then a youth, was convicted of first degree murder in Los Angeles. But in October of the following year, the appellate court reversed the conviction and he left San Quentin a free man.

In August, 1945, he was back in the prison for first degree robbery in Los Angeles. It was during that term that he committed the two killings.

He was once paroled, in September, 1955, but was returned to Folsom for violating the conditions of his parole.

A review of the Board of Fire Underwriters' fire prevention code was made this week by the Novato Fire District board.

The board approved specifications for a new 750-gallon triple combination pumper-tanker truck.

Enemark, executive vice president and manager of the Marin Savings and Loan Assn. and president of the Marin Industrial Development Foundation, will speak on "The Money Situation" at the breakfast meeting of the Marin County Real Estate Board on Tuesday at 8 a.m. at King Cotton restaurant in San Rafael.

Educator Says TV Can Teach Kids Hardness

Paul Witty, a Northwestern University professor and reading expert, said his 10-year study of the TV habits of Chicago school children indicated television is capable of damaging the minds and morals of American youngsters.

ACCEPT VIOLENCE

Children who watch too many westerns and crime shows "can gradually come to accept violence, hate and destruction as almost normal ways of life," Witty said.

But television also has its brighter side, he said.

He said his study showed that TV increased children's reading and vocabularies and cut the sale of comic books, but did not lower their school grades or cut into outdoor play or hobby time.

OTHER FINDINGS

Witty said his research also showed that:

1. Children now spend an average of 21 hours weekly before the TV set—about as much as when the first sets were introduced. Their parents watch 20.5 hours a week, but high school students watch only 12.3 hours and teachers 11 hours.

2. Ten years ago the favorites were "Howdy Doody," "Hopalong Cassidy" and "The Lone Ranger." Now the toddlers prefer "77 Sunset Strip," "Maverick" and "Huckleberry Hound."

3. Television can become a negative influence only if his parents "allow it to become and remain a problem."

Novato High Lists Honors

Susan Obee, Danelle Smith and Dave Williams led 115 Novato High School students with 28 points apiece for the second grade period honor roll, it was announced today by Robert J. McKeay, principal.

To make the honor roll, a student must have a B average in all subjects, no grades less than C, and be taking at least six subjects. An A is counted as four points, a B three points and a C two points.

A 16-year-old Tamalpais High School junior has become one of the youngest licensed pilots in the country after making two solo flights in a small seaplane Sunday.

Harry W. Herr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Herr of 421 Rose avenue, Mill Valley, completed his requirements for a student pilot certificate with the flights made at the Commodore base in Sausalito.

Young Herr, who began his flying instruction last summer under A. J. Crook of Seid Aviation Corp., said today his father encouraged him to take the training, "to improve my driving ability.

"It really has helped, too," said the young pilot. "An airplane requires all the alertness and attention you have, and I've transferred that to driving."

Harold P. Hutton Jr. of 24 Camino Bueno drive, Ross is purchasing for $10,000 the partnership interest of Mrs. Elsie J. Rodrigues in the Old Original Fourth Street Liquor Store at 703 Fourth street, San Rafael, it was announced today.

Hutton, former operator of a gasoline service station, is making the payment against license, furniture and fixtures but not stock, he said. The deal is to be completed about the first of the year. Like Mrs. Rodriques, Hutton will be associated as partner with Okley Maynard Pistole.

No change in conduct of the business is contemplated, Hutton said.
